Economy Behind Movement

Public Works, Thruway Probes Held Possible

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state's "Little Hoover Commission" will meet Monday to consider launching investigations of the State Public Works Department and the Thruway Authority. The Associated Press learned today.

Pressure for both probes is being applied by a bloc of economy-mind Republicans in the Legislature headed by Sen. John Hughes of Syracuse.

Toll Boost One Factor

It was learned that the Legislature's Republican majority leaders had suggested to Sen. William S. Hulse, commission chairman, that he consider making the investigations.

Demands for the inquiries stemmed from:

1. A 25 per cent increase in Thruway toll charges and a 50 per cent boost in the price of the annual permit, instituted Jan. 1.
2. Criticism of the Public Works Department's practice of awarding consulting engineering contracts — nearly 66 million dollars worth since 1955 without competitive bidding.

Hughes and fellow Republicans from the Syracuse area have urged the Legislature to order an investigation of the department's policy.

Would Cover Ave's Reign

They said the probe should cover the administration of Governor Averell Harriman, who was governor from 1955 to 1959.

They also have introduced legislation that would roll back the Thruway rates temporarily while the Legislature investigated to determine whether the increases were necessary.

Gov. Rockefeller's news public works superintendent, J. Burch McMorran, has said that he plans no changes in the policy of consultant contracts.

Calls Criticism Ridiculous

McMorran's Deputy, E. Burton Hughes, said today the criticism of the contracts was "the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard."

Burton Hughes said the department did not have the engineering manpower to make surveys, draft specifications, draw up right-of-way maps and supervise private contractors on state construction.

The department therefore sought outside help, he said. It is professional help, the deputy asserted, and "when you want a doctor or a lawyer you don't go and get bids and hire the cheapest one."

City Hall Mail Will Stress History Year

A perpetual reminder of the state's Year of History is to go out from City Hall through the year, Mayor Edwin F. Radel noted today.

Envelopes carrying official mail will bear an outline of the state, plus the reminder that this is the year of the Hudson-Champlain anniversary (1609-1959, 350 years). This step, state-wide, will be an effective reminder that this is New York's Year of History.

Steel Negotiations Moving to New York

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Contract talks between the basic steel companies and the United Steelworkers in 1959 will shift to New York. The Associated Press learned Wednesday.

Sources who declined to be identified said the talks probably will start about May 18.

There appears to be no major significance in the move to New York. However, it would break tradition. The first round of negotiations in the past has been in Pittsburgh.

There was no immediate contact from the union or the steel companies on where or when contract negotiations will begin this year.

N'burgh-Beacon Bridge Designs Receive Approval

POUGHKEEPSIE — All aspects of the recommended Newburgh-Beacon Bridge design, as submitted to the division engineer of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in Albany last Dec. 31, have been approved, John S. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority announced today.

The approval was contained in a January 20 letter to the authority from C. F. Blanchard, deputy chief engineer of the State Department of Public Works. This approval of the plans and economic justification of the bridge design should make it possible "to complete the final plans for the substructure contract for the main river crossing so bids can be received in May of this year," according to Frank M. Masters, of Modjeski and Masters, the Bridge Authority's consulting engineers who are designing the bridge.

Must Approve Plans

Under the provision of the Federal Highway Act, the Bureau of Public Roads must approve the plans, specifications and estimates for those projects which will use federal interstate money, such as the Newburgh-Beacon bridge.

At the December 31 meeting in Albany, the Bridge Authority's engineers presented their recommended plan, as well as six alternatives, to both the State Department of Public Works and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The design, as approved, is substantially similar to that submitted in the preliminary report of November, 1956: Four-lane structure, with a 58-foot roadway cross-section, composed of two 27-foot lanes on each side of a non-mountable concrete median four feet wide and one foot high. Additionally there will be a two foot safety walk on each side of the roadway. This means that each roadway will be one foot wider, and the median

Maps Are Filed for Town Land 9 City Properties Needed for Artery

Progress toward taking property within the city for Kingston's arterial route project was reported today.

State men have held preliminary discussions with property owners and a meeting is slated for next week to discuss one of the larger properties in the triangular area formed by Broadway, Albany Avenue and East St. James Street.

No Filing for City Yet

Maps have been officially filed by the state in the county clerk's office for the taking of land in the Town of Ulster, but none has been filed yet for acquisition of city properties. The state may proceed with the project after official filing of maps. Others are due to be filed in the near future.

At least nine properties are due to be taken within the city limits, seven of them in the triangular area, and two others along the lowlands between Albany Avenue and the Esopus Creek.

The route will pass over lands of Milton Walker, John F. McCreery, Vincent Maggione, and other smaller properties in the Town of Ulster where John Arberio, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor, has started preliminary work.

Second Moving

The Maggione farmhouse, it appears, for the second time within recent years, will be moved. It was moved from Route 28 to the Sawkill Road for the building of the Thruway interchange.

Two gas station properties, Shell and Socony, the Garbarino and Murphy properties, plus

Kosloff Property To Be Developed As Building Site

The estate of the late Alexis Kosloff of Woodstock has been purchased by two area business men for development as a quality residential section.

The property, located on the Maverick road just south of the village of Woodstock, was bought by Arnold Rymkevich of the Boiceville Construction Co. and R. E. Craft of Kingston, local real estate broker.

It consists of more than a half mile on both sides of the Maverick road, a 10-room residence, dance studio, five cottages and a large barn.

50 Building Lots

The owners propose to improve the existing buildings and subdivide the property. There are about 50 building lots along the Maverick road.

The balance, consisting of a 100-acre parcel, will be divided into building sites of approximately one acre each. It will be available to builders.

To Construct Lake

They also propose to construct a lake to enhance the attractiveness of the property.

The owners feel that the Woodstock area is highly desirable for development of quality homes, it was pointed out.

Craft & Cautiz, local realtors, will act as agents for the development.

Kosloff, who died in 1957, was a former dancer with the Russian Royal Ballet and a well-known dancing teacher.

Rocky's Tax Plan to Cost Most About $1 Per Month

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Most New York taxpayers will have to pay less than $1 a month extra under the new income tax plan Gov. Rockefeller will propose Monday.

The Republican governor disclosed this Wednesday—to clarify conflicting reports about the plan, he said.

Although Rockefeller gave no details, it is known he will propose to raise the tax by cutting personal exemptions. He also will recommend shifting from the present quarterly-payment system to a weekly payroll withholding basis, starting April 1. The changes are expected to yield approximately 150 million dollars in revenue.

Rockefeller said that, for taxpayers earning up to $6,000 a year, the average increase would be "less than $1 a month." He did not say how much less.

Persons in these salary brackets represent about two-thirds of all the state's taxpayers. Latest available statistics indicate they pay an average of $33 a year now—close to $3 a month.

Rockefeller chose the lower and middle income groups — Those earning less than $6,000 a year—to illustrate his point.

He said these persons, comprising two thirds of all the state's taxpayers, now pay 20 per cent of the entire income tax. They will continue to pay 20 per cent, he asserted.

Without any changes, the income tax would yield about $71 million dollars in the fiscal year beginning April 1. Rockefeller hopes to boost this by roughly one quarter.

Debt Is $250 Million

Rockefeller says he needs the extra revenues to help close a 250-million-dollar gap between income and outgo in his budget, which is expected to top two billion dollars.

However, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, contended Wednesday night that Rockefeller had overestimated the "deficit" by 55 to 65 million dollars.

Levitt urged careful study of the governor's tax-boost proposals "with a view to achieving major reductions in keeping with actual expenditures."

Besides raising the income tax, Rockefeller is likely to request a two-cent increase in the state cigarette tax, now three cents a package.

Gas Tax Passed

At the governor's request, the Legislature already has enacted a 50 per cent increase in the gasoline tax, raising it to six cents a gallon, and the diesel fuel tax, boosting it to nine cents, both effective March 1.

Rockefeller will ask the Legislature to set personal income tax exemptions at a flat $500 per person. Current exemptions are $1,000 for a single taxpayer, $2,500 for a married couple and $400 for each dependent.

The exemption cuts would raise the tax sharply, except that the governor also will propose changes in the tax base to soften the impact.

Would Lower Price Supports

Ike Favors Flexible Program for Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today renewed with fresh emphasis his call for lower price supports to cut costs of federal farm aid and encourage greater sales.

In a special message to Congress, he said price support programs are "excessively expensive" and crop control programs don't control.

Cites Big Surpluses

Citing the big accumulation of surpluses and the large outlays of federal funds on farm programs, the message said "the need to reduce the incentives for excess production has been explicit" in the three special messages on agriculture which he has previously sent.

Eisenhower said expenditures under present programs go largely to a relatively few big farmers. Dispatched to Congress along with the message was a memorandum from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson giving specific details regarding operation of present programs—particularly those affecting wheat, tobacco and rice—and outlining possible changes in farm laws.

Eisenhower took notice of Democratic proposals for changes in farm programs and cautioned against adopting some of them.

"Difficulties of the present program should not drive us to programs which would involve us in even greater trouble," he said. "I refer to direct payment programs, which could soon make virtually all farm people dependent, upon a large share of their income, upon annual appropriations from the federal Treasury."

"I refer also to various multiple price programs, which would tax the American consumer so as to permit sale for feed and export at lower prices."

In general, Eisenhower's recommendations would make no drastic changes in present programs—only allow the Agriculture Department more flexibility in setting price supports for products required to be supported by the government. Under such authority lower supports — and hence lower government outlays—would be expected to follow.

Publisher Is Now One of Principal Owners at WSKN

John Hay Whitney, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, will become one of the principal owners of Radio Station WSKN of Saugerties, it was announced today.

The Federal Communications Commission has approved the request of transfer of 65 per cent of the stock to VIP Radio Corporation, owned by Martin Stone, well-known television producer, and Plymouth Rock Corporation, which owns the Herald Tribune and Parade Magazine. Whitney is president of the Plymouth Rock Corporation.

Controls Two Others

The VIP Radio Corporation recently bought control of Station WVIP at Mt. Kisco and WNES, formerly WNRL (AM and FM) at New Rochelle.

Station WVIP has pending an application for 5,000-watt power and FM facilities.

John Liniker, president and general manager of WSKN, told The Freeman that the transaction had been under negotiation for some time and will bring the station vastly improved service.

Dismissal Denied in Ashby Case

Greenberg Lauds Jury for Action

The extraordinary Grand Jury investigating kickbacks in Ulster County, today recommended provisions of the State Constitution which requires public officials to either sign a waiver of immunity and testify when subpoenaed before a grand jury or forfeit their office, be extended to include individuals and firms doing business with the state or its political subdivisions.

In a report made to Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, it was recommended that the matter be brought to the attention of Governor Rockefeller. Attorney General Lefkowitz and the legislature.

Praises Action

Judge Greenberg congratulated the grand jury on its "great contribution to the public welfare" and expressed the hope that the legislature would take action at the present session.

At the brief session of court Justice Greenberg also announced his decision on a motion of defense counsel to dismiss the perjury indictment against Edwin W. Ashby which is to go to trial on Tuesday. The motion to dismiss the indictment charging perjury, first degree, and perjury, second degree, which superseded a prior indictment, was denied.

The original indictment charging perjury, first degree, was dismissed by consent of Special Assistant Attorney General Tompkins. Decision on that motion had been reserved pending filing of a new bill bond under the superseding indictment.

May Inspect Minutes

A motion for inspection of the grand jury minutes was also granted by Justice Greenberg on consent of the assistant attorney general.

The recommendation of the special grand jury, signed by E. M. P. Rode, foreman, and E. M. Rode, secretary, would bring under Article I, Section 8, of the New York State Constitution all firms and individuals doing business with the state or its political subdivisions.

Under Article I, Section 6, public officials are required to waive immunity and testify as to all transactions involving their official duties, or forfeit their office.

Says Progress Impeded

During the current investigation into alleged "kickbacks" the grand jury has been "blocked, impeded and frustrated" in its investigation by "certain sellers of merchandise and equipment and their employees, one after another . . . by invoking their constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, and refused to testify as to their sales and business with officials in the county," the report states.

The grand jury recommends that firms and individuals be brought under the scope of the State Constitution in the same manner as public officials.

SLA Rules Drinks In Bowling Alleys Must Stay at Bar

A recent survey by the New York State Liquor Authority has resulted in issuance of a ruling that patrons of bowling alleys may consume alcoholic beverages only in the bar.

Such beverages may only be consumed outside the bar in specific and limited areas, if served by a waiter.

They may be served in the main dining room or certain auxiliary spaces, such as a snack bar. The beverages may not be removed from these spaces into the lane area.

The purpose of the ruling is to guard against the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

The main dining room must be clearly outlined and defined. The permanent bar must be located in that room.

New CR Bill Would Speed Up Integration in Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and 14 other senators joined today to introduce a sweeping civil rights bill aimed at insuring racially integrated schooling.

The measure is the same bill Douglas sponsored without success in the last session of Congress. It would authorize 200 million dollars of federal funds for a five-year program of grants to speed integration.

In a Senate speech prepared for its introduction, Douglas called the bill meaningful and constructive, but said "the results of our recent efforts to curb the filibuster have undoubtedly dimmed the outlook for the passage of such a measure."

Douglas led a campaign this year to cut from 68 to 50 the number of senatorial votes required to choke off a filibuster—a method Southerners have frequently used to kill civil rights legislation. Instead, the Senate changed its rule to require a vote of two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

Under grant provisions of the bill, funds would be available to local communities that wish to comply with the Supreme Court's school integration order in cases where, as in Georgia and Virginia, the state threatens to cut off funds or close the schools.

The grant provision would also authorize funds for school facilities in areas where the chief problem preventing integration is the lack of adequate buildings or other physical equipment. Help also Trade between the United States and Cuba runs more than 400 million dollars annually on each side. These are examples of an interchange built up between the two countries since the Spanish-American War of 1898 freed the lush island from Spain.

Close ties are dictated by geographic, historic, and economic facts of life, whether a Fulgencio Batista or a Fidel Castro is top man among Cuba's six million people.

Among these facts:

The United States buys about half the three-million-ton sugar crop that is Cuba's mainstay. Cuba is only 90 miles across the Florida straits from Key West, Fla.

American motor cars, TV sets, household appliances and machinery are among products flowing the other way.

Private interests in the United States are estimated to have more than a billion dollars invested in Cuba. The biggest of these is the American and Foreign Power Co., with about 221 million dollars in Cuba's major power company.

Ave Adviser Is Supporting Move Against DeSapio

NEW YORK (AP) — George Backer, a close associate and political adviser of former Gov. Averell Harriman, is supporting the movement to cut the power of Carmine G. DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman from New York and leader of Tammany Hall.

Meanwhile, more county Democratic leaders rejected the so-called "grass roots" movement against DeSapio.

The anti-DeSapio insurgency was turned down Wednesday by county chairman of Orange, Dutchess, Delaware, Otsego, Washington and Clinton counties.

Leaders of the move against DeSapio are three persons aligned with the liberal wing of the party in the state—former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. A citizens committee sponsored by Lehman, Finletter and Mrs. Roosevelt has been formed to "return the party to the voters" and to destroy "the image of bossism."

DeSapio is the main target of the New York Committee for Democratic Voters which was announced last week.

Backer praised the committee Wednesday night in addressing a meeting of the New York Young Democratic Club in New York City.

Backer said: "Mrs. Roosevelt's committee should prove a stimulus to reformation of the Democratic party, and its reclamation." Harriman has not expressed any opinion on the anti-DeSapio movement.

Nixon and Dewey Confer, Veep Not At Party Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon spent an active day here Wednesday, including having a private talk with former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

But he never got to a big Republican victory dinner presided over by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. As he left by plane for Washington shortly after midnight, Nixon was asked why he had not attended the state GOP $100-a-plate affair.

"I didn't know about it when I made my plans to come to New York and my plans for activities in New York," he said, "and guess they didn't know I would be in town. Actually, this was just a dinner for state Republicans."

Nixon received an honorary degree Wednesday night from Fordham University and addressed the university's alumni at a dinner.

King Praises Board Members On Tree Cutting

Carlton B. King, vice-president of the Mt. Marion Civic Association, Inc., and an outstanding leader in area conservation, has commended Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons and members of the Woodstock Town Board for their action in halting wholesale cutting of trees by state highway department workmen.

In a letter to this column, King says: "The story of your actions... should give courage and determination not only to local officials, but to everyone throughout the state in their contacts with the so-called powers that be." The letter follows: "Congratulations to you and the other members of your town board for your prompt actions in defense of local government and in saving trees along your highways from the contractor's axe."

"The story of your actions, in tonight's Kingston Daily Freeman, should give courage and determination, not only to local officials, but to everyone throughout the state in their contacts with the so-called powers that be."

"It is extremely gratifying when small town folks can challenge and win a battle with supposedly higher authority. Personally, I feel that you have really made history and I sincerely hope that the residents of Woodstock will appreciate your efforts."

Cites Saugerties Picture
"We have had and still have entirely too much of the sort of thing you had to fight in this case, the unnecessary destruction of our natural resources."

"I have picture proof of a similar operation on Route 212, here in the Town of Saugerties, again done in the guise of the so-called Roadside Development Program. Here, unfortunately, the damage had already been done, but I was assured, as a taxpayer, that such a condition would not be repeated, so I neglected to solicit the help of my Supervisor to make sure it wasn't repeated."

"I am sending a copy of this letter to my Supervisor, Mr. Peter Williams of Saugerties, N. Y. with the request that if the Town of Saugerties does not now have an ordinance, such as yours, that the Town Board give it earnest consideration at the earliest possible date."

"Wishing you continued success... CARLETON B. KING, vice-president Mt. Marion Civic Association."

Marshall's Plan Lincoln Drama

David and Herta Marshall, Woodstock's outstanding interpreters of American folk drama and music, will present "The Lincoln," a new production by David Marshall on Thursday, Feb. 12, at the Kleiner Gallery in Woodstock.

The 8:30 presentation coincides with the 150th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The new, original drama will feature authentic portrayals of Abe and Mary in the White House and will feature ballads and folk songs of the period. It will be played by the Marshalls in the traditional folk theatre style that proved so appealing in their recent settings of Spoon River Anthology and Sandburg.

GROWING AIR AGE

The public is aware, but only in a vague and general way, that civil aviation is growing. The phenomenal speed of this growth is detailed in the 1958 edition of the federal Statistical Handbook of Civil Aviation.

Consider that vital indicator, passenger miles flown for revenue. In 1956 the domestic scheduled airlines flew 22.4 billion revenue passenger miles. That was a lot of flying, but during 1957 the total rose to 25.3 billion. More significantly, the 1957 total was almost three and one-half times the number of revenue passenger miles flown a decade earlier.

The number of international airline passenger miles also rose substantially from 1956 to 1957. The number of domestic air cargo ton-miles went up 15 per cent. Manufacturers sold more than 682 million dollars worth of civil aircraft and supplies in 1957. Although that does not bulk large against military aircraft sales of more than 11 billion dollars, it is nevertheless a 50 per cent increase over 1956 sales.

Another reliable indicator is the fact that more than 75,000 student pilot certificates were issued during 1957. That compares with 45,036 in 1956, and it brings the total of civil pilots to more than 700,000.

An obvious conclusion is the general one that air travel and air freight plan an increasingly important role in our way of life. More specifically, growth in civil aviation must be matched by growth and improvement in airport and air traffic control facilities. The problems are shared, in varying degree, by communities, states and the federal government. The progress of civil aviation depends in great measure on how well they meet their responsibilities.

OUT OF THE HOSPITAL

Numerous mental hospitals in the United States have reached the encouraging stage of seeing the number of patients gradually diminish—not the number admitted during a year, but the number who need to be in a hospital at a given time.

This has been accomplished by more concentrated treatment, including such factors as more trained staff and use of the tranquilizing drugs. Perhaps a growing willingness on the part of patients and their families to submit to treatment also is helping to get the mentally ill into hospitals before their illness is far advanced.

The faster recovery rate and more rapid turnover in hospitals is good news, but it is no cause for state legislatures and the public to relax. It merely proves the value of more training, more staff, more special medication—an overall treatment program which is more expensive to maintain.

This is inescapable; good mental care is costly. But few tax dollars bring such satisfying results as those spent on an intelligent mental health program.

Defense Secretary McElroy says there is no "positive evidence" the Russians are ahead in intercontinental missiles. Let's hope it will stay that way.

SELF-DISCIPLINE

The philosophers often suggest that, instead of worrying about the conquest of space, man should learn to conquer and discipline himself. This seems to have gotten through to Michel Perrigaud of Nantes, France.

Perrigaud disciplined himself to such an extent that he succeeded in playing the harmonica for seven and a half hours while sitting in a chair which was balanced on three bottles. Dispatches do not say whether he first emptied the bottles in the French manner, but it was reported that Perrigaud claimed a world endurance record for having achieved this feat.

We have no doubt that it was a record. We venture the prediction that no one else will soon play the harmonica any longer—not, at least, while sitting on a chair teetering on three bottles. This may be just as

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A DARING TRIBE

The great editors and reporters of this country asked for no immunities and no protections. They took their chances and assumed their responsibilities. I am writing of such reporters as Lincoln Steffens, Charles Edward Russell, Samuel Blythe, Floyd Gibbons, Frank Ward O'Malley, H. L. Mencken, Mark Sullivan, and such publishers as William Randolph Hearst, Joseph Pulitzer, William Allen White, Joseph Medill Patterson—their number is legion in the story of freedom in the United States. These are just names that come to mind, but a little research would fill this column three or four times over with heroic publishers and editors and reporters, long before there was any such thing as a Pulitzer Prize or any other gold stars for good conduct. There was no fear among these men and women. And they wanted no immunity from the law. Journalism was a great art and profession in those days and one that paid badly.

Nowadays news is also handled as a part of theatrical business and the manner and tone are different. Television and radio are not newspapers and few men with real newspaper experience have made brilliant careers on these devices, although Hans Kaltenborn, a brilliant reporter and editor, was undoubtedly the greatest reporter on radio.

Edward R. Murrow, who recently attained a new fame as an expert on vice and its relationship to business, has never been a newspaperman. Whatever relationship he has had to news has been with radio and television and as that is show-business rather than journalism, his discipline and training have been different from that of a reporter. Also, as all his work is ephemeral, passing swiftly into the air, he never had the sad experience of having his errors blue-penciled the next morning with an unmistakable warning from the managing editor that there was no shortage of applicants for jobs.

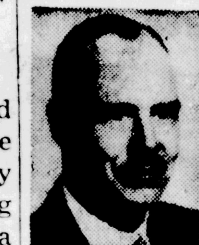

In fact, Murrow's career started with Professor Stephen P. Duggan's Institute of International Education, an endowed agency for the exchange of students. Murrow left the Institute to join the Columbia Broadcasting System as director of talks and education and from that he moved into news.

It is not important that Ed Murrow chooses to be regarded as an expert news gatherer. The fact is that he is not a newspaperman and cannot be recognized as one. From any standpoint he is as actor, a profession to which some fine people admit that they belong. The theatre is great art, but play-acting is not journalism.

Although it has recently become fashionable for some younger newspapermen to ask for immunity from responsibility, it is not customary in the trade. A newspaper is a responsible business, subject to law. It can be sued for libel; it can be punished for being salacious or malicious. Libel, in very simple language, means lying or defaming and decent newspapermen avoid both. They check their material and their sources and although bias and errors do creep in, the writer does not dodge responsibility. However, when a top-notch reporter, such as Westbrook Pegler, discovers a crook, a swindler, a faker, he will go after him. Sometimes such reporting leads to libel suits, the judge and jury taking another view of the matter, but among strong men the libel suit was ignored as contemptible, if the reporter told the truth. However, today juries grant such ridiculous sums for what they call libels that newspaper owners are frightened and the reporters fear too.

As regards radio and television, the whole matter is complicated by the method of organizing the job. As it is a theatrical performance, the man who speaks the words may not have written them. The words usually come from a word factory. If the show is owned by the radio or television company, there may be some responsibility; if it is owned by an agency or a producing company, the direct responsibility may be very remote. The fellow who wrote the words may not have gathered the facts. Murrow, for instance, in his vice show, has admitted that he neither gathered the facts nor wrote the words; he was the narrator, like Charles Leighten reading the Bible parts of which were written several thousand years ago.

Before radio and television are entitled to immunity from the law, they need to learn something about responsibility under the law. (Copyright, 1959, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Fact Book Sums Up Growing War Against Heart Disease

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

For several years the American Heart Association has been spearheading the drive against heart and blood vessel disease. That fine voluntary organization has supported much research and has served to clarify and publicize what has already been accomplished and what remains to be done.

One of the most significant recent publications from the association is a pamphlet, "Facts and Figures" about cardiovascular diseases in the United States. Even those who are interested, copies of the handbook may be obtained from local heart associations or from the American Heart Association, 44 East 23rd St., New York 1, N. Y.

Over the past 50 years diseases of the heart and blood vessels have grown more serious as a cause of illness and death.

In 1905, for example, diseases of the heart and circulatory system were responsible for about 24 out of 100 of all deaths in the United States. Today they account for over 54 out of 100.

This looks serious and indeed it is. But it must be considered in part as the result of people living longer. The infectious and contagious diseases no longer take such a serious toll of the young, and more and more of us are living on into the later years of life when the heart and blood vessel diseases are most likely to attack.

When this factor is taken into consideration, and the death rate is adjusted for the aging of the population, there has been an actual drop in deaths from these diseases over the past 15 years.

The fine booklet presents information on a number of questions which are commonly asked.

For example, "Which of the cardiovascular diseases are most important as causes of death?" The answer is that hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure are accountable for more than 90 per cent of all deaths from cardiovascular diseases. Strokes and heart attacks (coronary disease) are classified under these headings.

Another question commonly asked is, "At what ages are deaths most likely to occur from cardiovascular diseases?"

The largest percentage come in the older age groups, but they can occur at any age. In this connection it is encouraging to learn that the death rate from rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, which is most common among young people from the ages of 5 to 24, has reached an all-time low.

It is also often asked whether there are sex differences in susceptibility to death from the heart diseases.

Here, as in almost all other respects, women are better off than men and have a lower death rate at all adult age levels. Why this should be the case is not clear, but is just one more evidence that the "weaker" sex is really the stronger, biologically speaking.

well. But the incident does prove that self-discipline still exists. For further proof, consider the neighbors who listened to Perrigaud all those hours and didn't dump him from his perch.

"You're Right! Why Can't We Rise Above Our Differences?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Nai Pote Sarasin, former Thai ambassador to the United States and now Secretary General of the South East Asia Treaty Organization, has come to Washington on a new and important mission.

It is to explore the possibilities for closer relations between SEATO and other free world collective security organizations, particularly the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Baghdad Pact countries.

At the present time, only the United Kingdom is a full member of all three alliances. The U. S. maintains close relations with the Baghdad Pact as an observer, cooperating on its military and economic programs.

Undersecretary of State Loy W. Henderson will be U. S. representative at the Baghdad Pact now meeting in Karachi, Pakistan. But this country is not a full member, as it is in NATO and SEATO.

FRANCE ALSO BELONGS to NATO and SEATO. Pakistan is in SEATO and Baghdad Pact. Turkey is in NATO and Baghdad Pact. The Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, other SEATO countries, have military agreements with the U. S.

Thus there is a loose correlation of information about the three organizations, but it is not exchanged officially.

Secretary General Sarasin's current trip to explore possibilities for better coordination is the result of action taken at the fourth SEATO Council meeting in Manila last March. He was authorized to develop closer relations with other collective security organizations for the exchange of information and opinion on a mutually agreeable basis.

The secretary general first visited Ankara, Turkey—new headquarters for the Baghdad Pact—to consult with its Acting Secretary General Bulend Kestelli.

In Paris, Sarasin met with Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium, secretary general of NATO, and with French officials. He also visited London for talks with the British.

Sarasin is not in Washington on a state visit. He is staying at the Thai embassy. But he will meet with Secretary of State Dulles, Assistant Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs Walter Robertson, Pentagon officials and Washington ambassadors of the eight SEATO countries.

He will report on his progress at the next SEATO Council meeting in Wellington, New Zealand, April 8-10.

THIS ACTION WILL, in all probability, be misbranded by Communist propaganda as a new effort to merge the three mutual defense alliances of NATO, a treaty for aggression against Russia and other countries behind the Iron Curtain.

The word in Washington is that nothing like that is involved. There is no plan for establishing direct liaison between the three alliances. There is no plan to merge the military planning under a free world super-cooperation plan. Most of the cooperation planned will be for nonmilitary programs.

What is not generally realized is that most SEATO activities are now in this nonmilitary field. SEATO's budget for this year is $850,000, making it one of the least expensive of all the international alliances. Only $100,000 of this goes for maintaining the military planning staff of about 50 officers in Bangkok.

THIS FIGURE DOES NOT cover the salaries of the staff nor the costs of SEATO military exercises. They are paid for out of the defense budgets of the eight SEATO members.

The 700 million dollars' worth of economic aid furnished to SEATO countries, principally by the U. S., is likewise not included in its budget.

The $750,000 of SEATO funds assigned to nonmilitary projects covers principally cultural relations, skilled labor training, research services on Communist penetration of the area and international information exchange.

These nonmilitary programs have done much to reduce the initial hostility toward SEATO from other countries in the area, particularly India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia. No one has any delusions that they are about to join the organization. But they now recognize that it is an influence for building up the area.

Communist propaganda against SEATO from both Red China and Russia has been increasing in intensity. This is taken as one of the best signs of its growing effectiveness.

Labor Unions Seen Able To Bar Corrective Laws

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Bigness in economic power always winds up sooner or later in the regulatory web of the Federal government. The labor unions of America, which in 1935 successfully put through the Wagner Act to secure Federal supervision of employers in collective bargaining, are finding themselves today likely to be drawn involuntarily into the hands of governmental monitors and disciplinarians.

Racketeering and the overreaching of a few labor bosses brought on the debacle which President Eisenhower has sought to deal with in his latest recommendations to Congress. But the political power of the labor unions is such that it will be surprising if any really effective legislation gets through Congress this year or next.

The President nevertheless feels he must put his views on record, and undoubtedly the Republican party will make a campaign issue of it if the Congress fails to pass adequate laws on the subject.

Constitution Violated

Strangely enough, while there's a hue and cry about obeying the "law of the land" and assuring the observance of "civil rights" where the integration-segregation controversy is involved, no such solicitude is being shown by the so-called "liberals" with respect to two major violations of the Constitution and of the laws of the land in the field of labor. One concerns political campaign contributions, and the other relates to the right of a citizen to work at his job without giving up his right to freedom of belief under the First Amendment of the Constitution, one of the "Bill of Rights."

Thus, it is a violation of Federal law for labor unions to contribute to political campaigns, but they pursue schemes which are no less evasive than those around integration decisions of the Supreme Court. The Secretary of Labor, James Mitchell, for instance, told his news conference the other day that, as a "moral obligation," labor union leaders should stop spending union funds to support candidates for state and local political office. He said he supported the principle of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act at all levels.

Mitchell's View

"I don't believe," he said, "the

Need Volunteers For Library Work

Mrs. Arthur Mulligan, co-chairman of the book committee for the Rosendale Library Association stressed the great need for helpers in cataloging and sorting books at the January meeting of the group. There are some phases that even the experienced can assist, she said. Fiction books must be alphabetized by authors while non-fiction is catalogued according to the Dewey decimal system. Helpers may also assist by putting paper jackets on new books and pasting pockets in the books. Any one desiring to assist may contact Mrs. Mulligan.

The following officers were elected for the Library Association: Mrs. Elsie Ingram, president; Mrs. Edward Huben, vice president; Mrs. Anna Mae Auchmoody, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Purcell, corresponding secretary and James McKeown, treasurer. All officers were unanimously elected.

It was announced that Mrs. Joseph Hill had purchased the World Book for the library. New children's books purchased by the library have not arrived yet, however, Miss I. Marie Gustafson of the New York State Library Extension Service gave some children's books to the library. Mrs. Huben announced her donation of an Atlas for use in the library and Mrs. George Dunn will give two new books about birds.

Joseph O'Connor whose term as trustee had expired was unanimously reelected for five years to serve as trustee of the library.

Mrs. Auchmoody, outgoing president, read the charter to the group. George Mollenhauer, chairman of the board of trustees, announced the receipt of the deed to the library given by Andrew J. Snyder.

The resignation of Mrs. Gunther Newman was accepted with regret upon a motion passed by the group, hereafter election of officers of the Rosendale Library Association and trustees will be held at the annual meeting in December.

Following the meeting of the Library Association, a meeting of the board of trustees was held at which time members of the board decided that the library will be open three consecutive days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 after its opening date.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Mulligan and Mr. Mollenhauer will attend the next Village Board meeting to request money to hire a person to care that the board consider donating for and maintain the lawn of the library.

funds that a union member pays as dues or initiation fees should be used for politics purposes because his contributions might be used to help a candidate he opposes.

As Mr. Mitchell explained it, the labor unions justify their political spending as "educational activity." But everyone knows this is an evasion. But, after making these points, the Secretary of Labor then said the Administration would not propose a law to deal with this problem. One wonders why.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., took up another phase of the hypocrisy being exhibited in ignoring violations of "civil rights" problem of the North in terms of the refusal of many states to pass laws that will guarantee the individual the right to a job if he is qualified for it and the right to stay in that job if he is efficient, no matter what the labor union may say in opposition. For today many contracts provide that the employer must fire an employee, if after thirty days on the job, he is unwilling to surrender his Constitutional beliefs and join an organization which uses his dues money to support political candidates he does not favor.

One would have thought that, in these days of enthusiasm for Federal pre-emption of state rights, there would be a demand to secure the protection of the individual citizen from the two abuses noted above. Certainly the President's recommendations to Congress have not mentioned either problem.

The union leaders, however, are preparing to tackle the subject by a proposed Federal law denying the states the right to interfere with any contracts that deprive a worker of his civil rights.

The unions will attempt also to amend any bills proposed to Congress of an anti-racketeering nature. Indeed, by the tacking on of amendments on other subjects, amendments to Federal labor legislation will be killed at this session of Congress. For the labor unions, by their contributions of millions of dollars to elect members of Congress, appear today to have enough strength in the Senate or House to stop the legislative process if it affects them adversely.

Proposals 'Courageous'

The President's recommendations, to be sure, are courageous as far as they go. Mr. Eisenhower says the object is to safeguard the workers' funds against misuse and "to protect the rights and freedoms of individual union members, including the basic right to free and secret election of officers." This means putting the regulatory hand of the Federal government on the internal operations of labor unions, just as today the same kind of supervision is exercised over the affairs of corporations.

The President's proposal "to protect the public and innocent third parties from unfair and coercive practices such as buying and blackmail picketing" cannot be persuasively rebutted by the labor unions. But they have the political power to suppress any really effective regulation of the abuses which have been uncovered by the McClellan committee. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Prepare for Essay Contest

Hurley School Hears Talk On Primitive Life in Area

Participation in the essay contest for pupils of the Greater Kingston Consolidated School District was begun this week at Hurley School No. 4.

The contest is divided into two parts. By Feb. 2, all schools participating must submit a list of possible titles for an essay of historical interest. From these titles submitted by the schools, a committee will select the title for the essay contest, which will be announced to the schools.

Essays will be submitted May 1 and winners will be announced June 1. Hurley's fifth and sixth grade students will participate in the elementary level contest and Hurley's seventh grade will enter the junior high school contest. Ernest Myer, head teacher, said.

Background Material

"To give Hurley's children in these grades some background and feeling for the history of their own community before they tackle the job of choosing a title and writing an essay, a series of talks has been arranged, the first to cover the prehistoric and primitive life in the valley, and the second to deal with the coming of white settlers, local life in colonial times and later."

Tuesday morning James Burggraf of Samsonville discussed the Indian life of Hurley. Burggraf has been excavating a site near Elmendorf's fruit stand on Route 209 during the past summer which has aroused a great deal of interest. He explained that Dr. William A. Ritchie of the State Archaeology Department is stepping up the work of digging up Indian remains because of the increasing building going on all over the state which is covering or destroying ancient sites.

Burggraf chose to concentrate on the present location, some of the findings of which go back 3,000 to 4,000 years, because the land will undoubtedly be built up in the near future.

Across the Straits

Tracing the Indian as a Mongolian refugee from an early Asian ice age which so absorbed the waters of the Pacific Ocean that he could migrate on foot to North America across the dry Bering Straits, Burggraf followed this early ancestor of our Indians to the then fertile territory of Arizona and New Mexico. As the ice cap receded and New Mexico and Arizona became arid, the Indian followed the melting ice north and eastward and reached this part of New York State some 7,000 years ago.

Burggraf declared that the Algonquians which the Dutch found here were a subdued and peaceful people, paying tribute to the Iroquois. Game was scarce and it was said that some Indians at the time of the white settlers had never killed a deer. For food they had turned to crops, and grew corn, beans and squash on the creek flats where corn is still grown today. They also fished, not only in the Esopus, but in the Hudson, for in the Hurley diggings are found the bony plates from sturgeons, backs which could only have been caught in the bigger river. The Dutch bought nets made by the Indians of native hemp, preferring them to nets from Holland.

Local Indians prepared for winter by digging (by hand or with the hip-bone of a deer), holes in the ground about 30 inches deep. These they lined with bark and filled with nuts, acorns and any other forms of dried food they could accumulate. When spring came and the holes were empty, they became the dumping pits for all the camp refuse, animal bones, shells, flint chippings, broken pottery, ashes from wigwam fires and even the bodies of those Indians who had not survived the winter. These refuse pits are depended on to reconstruct a great part of the Indian's story. Burial was accompanied by no ceremony.

While these Indians were not nomads as the earlier tribes who depended on hunting for a livelihood had to be, they did move the sites for their small wigwam villages about every two years. They did this first of all because two years was about as long as a bark wigwam would last, and also because they would have used up all the nearby firewood in that time and it was easier to move the wigwam than to haul the wood.

About 2000 years ago Indians learned to make pottery and use it for boiling water and cooking food. Before that bark kettles were used and as they couldn't be placed over the fire, hot stones were dropped into them to heat the food.

Stone Weapons

All Indian tools and weapons were made of stone or flint until the coming of the Europeans. A flint arrowhead could be turned out in a matter of minutes with a hammer stone for the rough chipping and a bone for the trimming. Burggraf explained that it is not at all difficult to make a respectable arrowhead in five minutes. The Indian made some use of the white man's iron for weapons and tools, but it is said that the Mohawks were not happy about the way their iron tomahawks stuck in the heads of their enemies and were lost, and so went back to stone.

Burggraf illustrated his talk with many objects taken from the Hurley refuse pits. He also had pictures of the five skeletons already uncovered from the Elmendorf site. All the important findings are being catalogued and displayed at the Bear Mountain Museum.

Local Indians found the Dutch so difficult to get along with that they finally migrated south, he said. They were unaggressive and were pushed farther and farther west where the last traces of them were a group of trading Indians on the plains of Texas. There are about 700 of them left in the country today.

Burggraf concluded his talk with question and answer period. On Thursday morning Miss Agnes Scott Smith of Kingston High School will discuss "Hurley After the Dutch."

Wife Denies She, Mate Quarreled Prior to Blaze

Mrs. Lewis Gorsline, whose family lost its possessions in a fire Tuesday afternoon in Eddyville, has asked The Freeman to correct an impression that she and her husband had quarreled shortly before the fire broke out. An official source advised The Freeman Wednesday that the couple had quarreled and that she had picked up her two small children and left the house. The Freeman so stated in its story yesterday.

She explained today however that her husband is highly nervous. She said she left the house with her children in order to make a telephone call from the home of a neighbor. The Gorslines had no telephone.

The Rev. Henry Hansen pastor of the Poughkeepsie Union Congregational Church, told The Freeman that Mrs. Gorsline has had difficulty finding an apartment to rent. She and the children are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zedler of Monticello.

Any one who can help the Gorslines find an apartment, or has suitable clothing, is asked to call FE-1-5793.

List Equalization Rates for 5 Towns

Final state equalization rates have been established for four Ulster County townships, and a tentative rate set for one town, it was announced today by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Final rates were established as follows: Esopus, 21; Hardenburgh, 37; Marlinton, 31, and New Paltz, 18. All have the same rate as last year.

A tentative rate set for Town of Lloyd was 28, the same as the previous year.

A hearing will be conducted by the board Friday, Feb. 13 at 10 a. m. at the State Campus, Washington Avenue, Albany, for towns with tentative rates.

The rates are established following spot checks of properties in a community to determine the percentage of true value at which the property is assessed.

The rates are used in allotting state aid granted to municipalities and townships on a 100 per cent true value basis.

To determine the true value of a property not assessed at 100 per cent, the assessed valuation is divided by the established rate.

Aluminum Homes Being Shown Here

One of the revolutionary new Viking line National Homes with bake-finished, lifetime aluminum sidewalls and roof is being given its first public showing in Ulster County in High Falls Park and on Route 375 between West Hurley and Woodstock by Ulster Homes, local National Homes dealer.

A Viking model in the Fair-L-Wood, three-bedroom design is being shown in Woodstock at the Maverick intersection and the school newspaper produces a student directory listing the name, address, phone number and class of every boy and girl in the school. Appropriately enough, it's called Dial-A-Date.

ally large and unique lots for larger model homes. At High Falls Park a Viking model in the Fair-L-Wood design is being shown. This house also has three bedrooms with an attached garage. A model of the Viking Fairlane, essentially the same floorplan without garage, will be opened within the next few months.

Better than a ton and a half of aluminum has been used to finish the exterior of each home, according to the builder.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Staff Writer
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — "The shorter invitation list... will restore the reception to its traditional purpose."

Or, translated from the official announcement: Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller won't have a mob scene at the Executive Mansion Feb. 10.

One of Most Hectic That's the night of the annual Legislative Reception, which had become one of the most hectic events of the capital's social season.

The state's new governor plans to restore the official purpose to the reception — to allow the governor to meet socially with members of the Legislature. The members and their wives have attended in the past. But so have department heads, their deputies and assistants, and division heads and their deputies and assistants.

And so have newspapermen, secretaries, stenographers, the Executive Chamber staff and a group carried on the invitations list as "miscellaneous."

A total of 458 invitations were issued last year. Each covered the recipient and, usually, a wife or husband. That meant more than 900 were invited.

Everyone who was invited did not go but a lot of people who were not invited did. One source estimated that 1,200 attended in 1958.

No Room for Dancers They formed a long line to greet the governor, who was then Democrat Averell Harriman.

Groups were jammed into corridors and corners. There was an orchestra for dancing but no room. There was a crush at buffet tables. Somewhere in the throng were the legislators who were supposed to be getting acquainted with the governor.

Rockefeller, who succeeded Harriman Jan. 1, undoubtedly had a full report of the 1958 proceedings. This year the governor has invited all 207 members of the Legislature and their wives. Only ten other invitations have been sent out, all to Rockefeller aides who regularly attend meetings of the governor and legislative leaders. The annual legislative reception will be a legislative reception.

Unusual Finesse Saves Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The ordinary finesse is an effort to turn a winner into a loser. Occasionally a player will want to finesse when all his cards in a suit are winners anyway.

A good example of this is a hand played many years ago by Charlton Wallace of Cincinnati. East's three-heart bid gave Charlton quite a problem. He could double and pick up a few points (the set would have been two tricks with the best defense) or he could bid some number of diamonds and try for game or slam in that suit or he could try three no-trump.

Charlton settled for the three no-trump bid and won the second heart lead. He had no diamond losers but also noted that his 10-9-8 could easily block out dummy's fifth diamond if the jack did not fall early.

It was apparent that if anyone held long diamonds it would be West so Charlton's first play was his king. He continued with the ten and when West played low Charlton let it ride. This play risked both a three trick set and criticism from partner but Charlton felt that East's three heart bid made the odds favorable to him.

They were and Charlton had his contract and the rubber.

Advantages Told In Converting Vets' Insurance

Veterans of World War II who still hold GI term insurance policies were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, that they should investigate the advantages of changing to a permanent type policy.

"The premium rate for term insurance is based on an individual's age," they said, "and the older a veteran gets the larger the premium he pays. Moreover, the average age of a World War II veteran is nearly 40 years. There are a number of veterans, therefore, who would benefit financially by converting to a permanent plan government policy. Under a permanent policy, the rate remains the same each year, and does not increase with age."

An easy-stage method of converting GI term insurance to permanent plans is available to any of the 3,200,000 World War II veterans who cannot afford to convert the full amount of their term policies, they continued. The insurance may now be converted in stages. For example, by converting $1,000 a year for 10 years, the full amount will be in permanent plan insurance within a decade. Annual dividends may be used in the process to reduce the cash outlay to the policyholder at the time of conversion.

Veterans who have any questions concerning the status of their GI insurance or who have any questions regarding their veteran entitlements to any of the various veteran benefits should contact the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office located at 32 Main Street, Kingston or the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Good conversation on the television screen is extraordinary. Good TV conversation by three or four persons removed thousands of miles from each other seems slightly miraculous.

A steadily increasing audience is enjoying the small miracle of such conversational exchanges conducted by Edward R. Murrow on "Small World"—CBS-TV, Sundays, 6 p.m., EST.

How is this wizardry worked? Palmer Williams, associate producer of "Small World," patiently tried to make the method clear to my technically obtuse mind.

The half-hour programs you watch and hear are on sound film, meticulously edited down from conversations of 90 minutes to two hours in length and held a week or so previously. All participants are linked by long distance telephone lines. A sound cameraman is operating his camera in front of each constantly.

On "Small World," extraordinary pains are taken—usually involving many hours—to establish "pure" telephone lines, free of interruption, static and echo. The voices are amplified until each speaker can catch others' nuances of tone clearly.

Murrow, in New York controls all cameras, as a director does on a movie set. After pure phone lines are firmly set and everyone is in his place, he goes around the circuit: "New York ready. . . Portland ready? . . . Turin ready? . . . New Delhi ready?"

Upon receiving affirmative replies from each technician, he says, "We'll start the cameras in 10 seconds." Thus each cameraman is ready to shoot when Murrow starts the conversational ball rolling in New York.

After 10 1/2 to 11 minutes, he interrupts, saying to whoever is speaking, "Please retain that thought while we re-load the cameras." This interruption is later edited out, of course. After a brief pause, Murrow checks around the circuit again and the sound filming resumes.

All film is flown to New York where technicians begin the painstaking job of synchronizing and editing.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turkey will make its first appearance since the holidays on many an American dinner table this weekend, judging by the weekly specials offered by grocery stores.

Prices are about the same as during the holidays.

This week, sirloin and rib roast prices are steady, veal up in scattered areas, fryers higher by 2 to 4 cents a pound and pork prices mixed (some up and others down).

Chicken—and other meats—are expected to decline in the coming weeks to meet lower pork prices.

Potatoes are plentiful and cheap. Stocks from last fall's big crop are the largest since 1950.

Other vegetable bargains are white Danish-type cabbage, mushrooms, carrots, turnips, beets, Texas spinach, red radishes, endive and escarole. Good buys are available in pascal celery, onions, new green cabbage, broccoli and lettuce.

Cauliflower and cucumbers are fairly good to moderately priced. Yellow or green squash is markedly higher. The condition of eggplant, snap beans and peppers is reported spotty.

Nearby apples and Florida's Temple oranges, tangerines and grapefruit head the best fruit buys. Limes can be had almost for the asking. California's navel oranges and lemons also are a good buy.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

An important meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 2, at the Court House, Wall Street. The meeting starts at 8 p.m.

Thomas J. Murphy, president, in announcing the meeting, stressed that several vital matters will be discussed and urged a large attendance of members and officers.

Among these items, the president said, include the voting on a large number of applications for membership and discussion of additional plans for the 25th anniversary dinner.

Murphy pointed out that the Jurors Association was organized May 29, 1934, and that the 25th anniversary fete would be held in the near future and will tie in with the Hudson-Champlain Celebration.

Steps for the annual election in May also are on tap for Monday's session when President Murphy will appoint a nominating committee.

Scratch Them!

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. LeRue Pfaff, first grade school teacher, assigned her students to bring in fall leaves and plants to decorate their room.

The youngsters responded eagerly, and Mike Smith brought in an armload of leaves. Only after itching set in did teacher and pupil find Mike's collection included poison ivy.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The Hudson-Champlain or "Year of History" of 1959 has just 11 months to go. If the various towns and historical sites want to get in the act, now is the time. Certainly all those bordering on the Hudson River should make every effort to be a tourist attraction. The inland towns have their folklore, their museums and other interesting historical items to lend to the celebration.

I have been besetted from all sides with the question: "What about our Kingston Point Park?" My voice is only one voice. It will take a lot of doing by those in power to bring it back. I think letters should be written to the governor and other officials with suggestions. If nothing else, perhaps it could be the formal opening by during this "Year of History." I think Henry Hudson, looking at Kingston Point today would say, "It hasn't changed too much, from the time I made it into a trading post some 350 years ago." I would like to see it made into some sort of historical "Kingston Point Trading Post" in rustic style, which would include a modern boat basin, marine museum and many other tourist attractions and enjoyment for the local folks for picnics and such with its magnificent Hudson river view. Let us keep the idea of "bring back Kingston Point Park" alive by writing letters and talking it up to those in charge of this anniversary.

An item appeared in the New York Sunday Times by John C. Devlin. It is headlined with: "Who discovered the Hudson River? Claims still conflict after 350 years. When the federally sponsored Hudson-Champlain Celebration Commission met recently with Italian, French and Dutch newspapermen they found out how historians can really disagree and everyone try to prove his point."

I am not taking part in this argument. I am only glad that Henry Hudson was born before me and found this river and I have been able to enjoy the sunrises and the majestic beauty, years ago from the Daylines, precisely from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and from the shores. The federal commission is trying to avoid arguments and to peacefully bring the states of New

Alleged AWOL

Local police today picked up and held for military authorities, Robert Edmond McVeigh, 28, of 11 Cleveland Street, Caldwell, N. J. an alleged deserter of the U. S. Army. He was found at the Huntington Hotel after police received a tipoff that he was there. Officers William Slover and Leonard Ellsworth brought him to police headquarters where he was held pending arrival of authorities from Albany. Police said he was missing from Ft. Riley, Kan., since last Dec. 18.

Storing Canned Foods

Did you know that it is important to store unopened canned foods in a cool well-ventilated place? Flavor and food value are better preserved when the temperature is below 70 degrees and above freezing.

Would Extend

unanimous vote, we deem grave and important enough in the public interest to make this report and recommendation. In order to obtain the true facts concerning the complaints and charges which have come before us, we subpoenaed many witnesses, including public officials and also employees of concerns and individuals who hold contracts or transact business with Ulster County and its subdivisions. The public officials were required, under the State Constitution (Article I, §6), to waive immunity and testify as to all transactions involving their official duties, or forfeit their office, and we received such testimony. On the other hand, certain sellers of merchandise and equipment and their employees, one after another, blocked, impeded and frustrated our inquiry by invoking their constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, and refused to testify as to their sales and business with officials in the County.

Continue Business

Their legal right to pursue this course of conduct, that is, to claim their privilege, cannot be questioned. However, further inquiry showed that the same firms and individuals, after such refusals to deny or affirm payment of bribes, continuing to employ, without interruption or diminution, the privilege of profitable business with the same governmental bodies. It seems to us both contradictory and incredible that such procedure be permitted, and certainly not in the public interest.

It is our considered opinion that a contractor doing business with an official State agency should stand in the same position as an officer or employee of such agency before an official body, such as a Grand Jury or a Crime Commission, investigating into charges of bribery or corruption involved in business dealings with State or local agencies. Such a person should be compelled to choose between divulging the nature and circumstances of his participation in the dealings under investigation and his constitutional right against self-incrimination, under the penalty of forfeiting his privilege to continue to trade with official State and local agencies.

We therefore recommend for consideration by the proper authorities legislation similar in nature and scope to Article I, Sec. 6, of the State Constitution, providing in substance that a firm or person doing business with the State of New York, or any of its political subdivisions, who is duly subpoenaed before a Grand Jury or other duly authorized official investigative body, must either sign a waiver of immunity limited to such transactions, and testify concerning the same, or, upon refusal to sign and testify, forfeit his privilege of doing business with any governmental agency in the State of New York for a period of five years. As to corporations, it may be provided that any corporation whose officer, employee or agent refuses to so testify, shall be barred for a similar period, or as long as such officer, employee or agent remains connected with such corporation.

It is respectfully suggested that copies of this report be sent for action to Governor Rockefeller, Attorney General Leffkowitz and appropriate members of the Legislature.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Don't Lose Position
In Strong Stocks; Set
Funds for Speculation

Q. R., New York State, writes, "I own about $50,000 worth of pretty good stocks. My chemicals include Dow, Reichold and Union Carbide. A friend has suggested my selling some of these and buying Commercial Solvents and Chemway. He says that these lower priced stocks will act better than the ones I hold. What do you think? I am an investor, not a trader, but I do like to see profits!"

A. We all like to see profits, even if we don't cash in on them. I would advise you not to make the trade your friend suggests. If you do, you are trading down, as we call it. You are getting out of strong stocks into weaker situations of substantially lower quality and stability. Now as a speculation, I like only moderately the two stocks your friend suggested. Commercial Solvents has had a mediocre record. There have been some management changes here which have helped the company. An improved outlook for agricultural chemicals may increase earnings which were off severely in the past two years.

When you buy Commercial Solvents, you are speculating on earnings and dividend recovery. The stock in 1957 showed a range in price between the high and low of about 50%. During the same year, the extreme fluctuation in Dow Chemical came to 28%. Chemway has had an uninspiring record. Largely of interest in low-priced stocks, this issue has doubled in price in the past 12 months. As in the case of Solvents, when you buy this stock you are gambling on earnings recovery, which may ultimately come.

Speculate With Separate Funds

Since you are an investor, not a trader, I advise you to hold your strong stocks in a big bull market. In any decline that may come, these invariably act better than the secondaries, or weaker issues. If you wish to speculate and have the separate funds to do so, I suggest you buy a little

Cary Chemical around 9 1/2 or Dixon Chemical & Research around 8 1/2. Either of these, in my opinion, is a better speculative buy than the stocks your friend suggested. Cary makes resins (as does Reichold) and Dixon is building up a big sulphuric acid business. Buy these with your eyes open and with the full knowledge that they can go down as well as up. Personally, I think they are going up, over a two-year period, but I've been wrong a few times myself.

Read Advised on Growth Stocks. Q. An Indiana reader says: "I would like to buy some growth stocks. My broker likes Homestake Mining and McIntyre Porcupine. How about General Motors for a long period, say 10 years? Is Benquet Consolidated very speculative?"

A. Mining issues are not generally considered growth stocks. Homestake, the largest North American gold producer, has shown no growth at all for many years. Earnings have been steady and virtually unchanged. There are two possible plays here. One lies in the company's uranium interests which could lift profits in the next few years. The other rests on the possibility that the price of gold will be increased. Such a move, which at present appears unlikely, would have a sharp impact on Homestake's earnings. This is a good stock in its class. I would buy it for yield but not for growth.

McIntyre Porcupine is no longer simply a gold producer. Through control of Venturos Ltd., McIntyre has a wide interest in other metals and minerals in Canada. There are opportunities for speculative profit here. General Motors has shown substantial growth over a period of the stocks you mention. I would pick this as the best holding for appreciation over a 10-year period. Benquet produces gold in the Philippines and has other interests there. The stock has not sold above 2% since 1950. This is an extremely speculative situation and I don't recommend it. (Send your investment questions to Mr. Roger E. Spear, c/o this paper.)

would be provided for hiring additional teachers if needed.

In addition to the grants, 2 1/2 million dollars a year for five years would be provided for such things as surveys and conferences on integration.

A clause similar to one stripped from the 1957 civil rights measure would authorize the attorney general to start civil actions against those who deprive others of equal rights on account of race, color, religion or national origin.

The measure would authorize: 1. Filing compliance actions in school cases in connection with approved integration plans when the secretary of welfare certifies that all efforts to secure compliance through conciliation, assistance and otherwise have failed.

2. Preventive action against state or local officials and others.

3. Preventive action against state or local officials and others acting under state law in cases denying equal protection. But the attorney general would be permitted to sue only upon a signed complaint and when in his judgment the person involved is unable to seek effective legal protection for himself.

3. Suits by the attorney general against those who attempt to prevent local officials from according persons equal protection of the law, or who act to hinder the execution of court orders for equal protection.

Joining Douglas in presenting the bill were Sens. Hubert M. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.), Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), Gordon Allott (R-Colo.), Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.), Pat McCamara (D-Mich.), Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), William Proxmire (D-Wis.), J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) and Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.).

N'burgh-Beacon

ian one foot narrower, than in the 37-foot roadway originally proposed.

Borings Are Favorable

The superstructure will have through cantilever main channel spans with 11 open deck truss spans extending to each shore, three on the West and eight on the East. Because borings and core samples obtained in 1958 disclosed better bearing qualities of the river bed materials than were originally believed, the engineers have been able to make a substantial saving in the cost of the substructure contract. Rather than all 11 of the piers in the river being of the "open-dredge caisson" type, it is now planned that piers 12 and 13 will be pile supported and pier 3 will have a tremie-sealed footing inside a coffer dam. Piers 1, 2, 14 and 15, which are on land, will have a spread footing on rock.

Main channel navigation clearance will be 165 feet in height and 960 feet in width, conforming with the clearance approved by the Department of Army's Corps of Engineers in April, 1957.

Discussed Last Summer

Preliminary discussion with Bureau of Public Roads personnel on the design of the bridge and its approaches began last summer and the recent approvals are a major step in keeping to the current timetable of contract lettings.

As detailed construction plans and specifications are drawn up in final form, they must also be approved by state and federal authorities before contracts can be let. Stillman said. He also pointed out that a May substructure contract letting assumes that the authority financing plan is maintained on schedule.

NEW YORK (AP) — March of Dimes funds this year will go in part to set up centers for aiding arthritis and rheumatism sufferers across the country.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, formerly the National Paralysis, said the number and location of the centers has not been decided. The first center was established recently in Presbyterian Hospital here.

O'Connor added that March of Dimes funds also will aid research on disorders of the central nervous system and on virus diseases in general.

Hungarian Reds Seek U. S. Relations Again

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The Communist government of Hungary says it wants to resume normal diplomatic relations with the United States.

The Red regime handed a note to U. S. Charge d'Affaires Garret G. Ackerson Jr. Wednesday saying relations between the two countries are abnormal and cannot continue that way. Details of the note were not made public. (There was no immediate reaction in Washington from the State Department).

Ike Reveals Data On Economic Aid, South Korea Tops

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has stripped the secrecy label off the economic aid allotments to individual countries, disclosing that South Korea topped the list with 221 million dollars in the year ended last June 30.

Red-threatened South Viet Nam ranked as the second biggest recipient with 184 million dollars. India was awarded $81,400,000 the third biggest amount, but also got 225 millions additional in loans and surplus farm products from other government agencies.

Eisenhower disclosed the country-by-country breakdown in a foreign aid report Wednesday to Congress. Authorities said it marked the first time since the government launched foreign aid programs in 1948 that individual economic aid allocations had been disclosed. Eisenhower gave no reason for ending the secrecy.

Rockefeller Is Urging MusicWeekObservance

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—"American music today compares favorably with that of any other land," Gov. Rockefeller said today in urging New Yorkers to observe February as American Music Month.

Plans Quiet Day

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller Jr. observes his 85th birthday today. He expected to pass the day quietly with his wife, and there were no plans for a family gathering of any kind, a spokesman said.

The Rockefellers are out of town, but the spokesman declined to say where. The spokesman said Rockefeller is in good health for a man of his age and takes an active interest in affairs generally.

Church Building Nears Completion

NEW PALTZ, Jan. 28 — Although still under the decorator's brush, the new education building of the Reformed Church is now in full operation. Except for choir practice, it is being used for all other organizations.

The church office has been moved here, and Mrs. Roland Babb, church secretary, will be at her desk each morning Monday through Friday.

This project was made possible by the men of the congregation turning out to donate their time and work toward its construction. They have worked long and faithful hours to make it a success. This handsome building was designed by Bernard Gunther, a New York City architect, who drew up its intricate and unusual design as a donation to the church. Mr. Gunther is the son-in-law of a member of the congregation, Mrs. John Meyer, and the late Mr. Meyer. He also contributed a few years ago, the plans that were used to remodel this lovely old Dutch Reformed Church.

This new building is now in full swing. The church school kindergarten class for four year olds is now held at 9:30 each Sunday morning under the guidance of Mrs. George Langwich and Mrs. Auchmoody.

The care nursery for children from 3 to 7 years of age is held during the Sunday morning worship service. This service is under the direction of the Kirk League.

This building also is available for meetings outside of the church. One of the new Paltz Girl Scout Troops, as well as the Hiller Society of College students hold their meetings here.

Boy Shoots Four In Family Because Of Rifts: Police

MORAVIA, N. Y. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy, infuriated by "an accumulation of family arguments," cut down four members of his family with a shotgun late Wednesday, state police reported.

John Jayne, a 5-foot, 9-inch teenager, was arraigned on a charge of first-degree murder early today before Judge Justice Richard Pearce in Cayuga County Court at Auburn. He entered a mandatory innocent plea.

Inspector William Driscoll said the 155-pound youth, a pupil at Moravia High School, killed his father, Willis, 66; his mother, Amber, 55; a brother, Willard, 19, and a sister, Elizabeth Ann, 13.

After the shootings, Driscoll said, the boy asked a neighbor to call a physician to the family farm home because "someone was hurt." Dr. Philip Robinson of Moravia responded and summoned troopers.

Police said they found the bodies of Mrs. Jayne and her daughter in the kitchen of the home; Willard was in the living room and the father slumped in a barn.

After his arraignment, John was confined in the county jail in Auburn.

The Jayne home is near Kelloggsville, about 20 miles south-east of Auburn, and two miles north of this Cayuga County village.

Former Mayor Is Called in Probe On Street Paving

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Former Mayor Steven Pankow heads a new group of past and present city officials called before an Erie County grand jury probing awards of city street paving contracts.

The ex-mayor, a Democrat who served from 1954 through 1957, was subpoenaed Wednesday and directed to appear next Tuesday. Names of the others were withheld until they had been served. The grand jury is reportedly investigating the period from 1954-56.

Meanwhile, contractor Raymond Brayer, a central figure in the probe, appeared for the second day before a federal grand jury Wednesday. He testified under an immunity from prosecution as he had earlier this month before the county grand jury.

Four present or former city officials have appeared so far before the county grand jury but only one has waived immunity and testified at length.

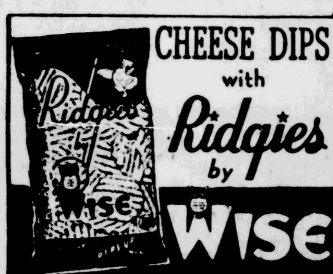

Erie County Dist. Atty. Carman F. Ball urged that no unfair conclusions be drawn from the list of new witnesses.

Matter of FACT

The first small firearms appeared late in the 14th century and were known as hand cannons. They had copper or iron tubes for barrels which were closed at the rear. Near the butt was drilled a small "touch-hole" for setting fire to the powder inside. The butt end ended in a hollow socket which fitted into a straight wooden stick or stock.

New Court Bill Would Change Gotham System

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A court reorganization bill that would make major changes in New York City but leave Upstate untouched has been placed before the Legislature by an influential Republican.

"There is no need for court reform in Upstate New York," said Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Genesee Wednesday as he introduced the measure.

The legislation probably will meet opposition from the Judicial Conference, which proposes merging the state's 17 kinds of courts into five classes.

The conference plan would wipe out many town, city and village courts, including that of justice of the peace.

Previous attempts to reorganize the state's court system have been sidetracked by Upstate opposition, chiefly from lawmakers who favored keeping the peace justice courts.

Erwin is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and is also a member of the Judiciary Committee that will screen court-reform bills.

Erwin said the court reform was needed in the New York metropolitan area to eliminate court congestion. Changes Upstate are not necessary, he said.

Gov. Rockefeller favors some kind of court revision and is expected to submit an administration bill next month.

Court reorganization would require amendment of the constitution. This requires the approval of two separately elected Legislatures and the voters. The next Legislature will be elected in 1960 and convene in January, 1961.

Named Director Of N. Y. Reserve Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has announced the appointment of James DeCamp Wise as a director of the New York Reserve Bank.

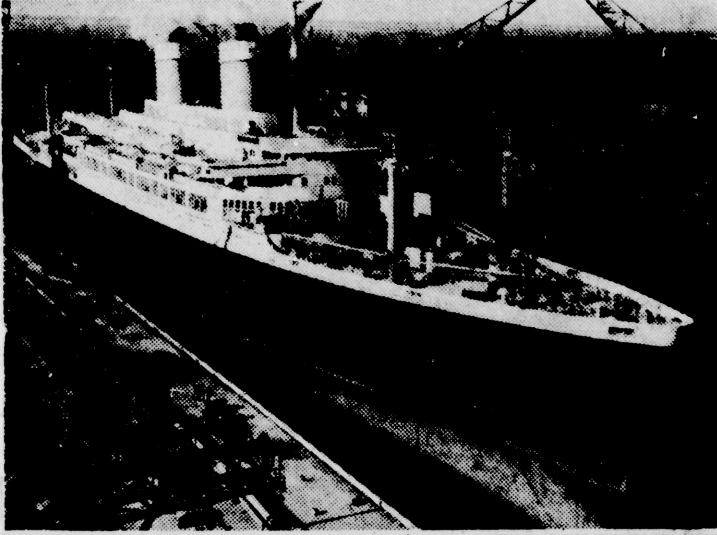

Wise, chairman of the board of Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., New York, will serve until Dec. 31, 1961. He succeeds Francis Schneider, mining consultant, whose term expired.

Cameron G. Garman, Bart, N. Y., was named a director Wednesday of the Buffalo branch of the New York Reserve Bank. Garman, a fruit grower, succeeds Daniel M. Dalrymple of Appleton, N. Y., who recently resigned.

Garman will serve until Dec. 31, 1960.

Constitution Renovated

Luxury liner Constitution sits in drydock, right, in Newport News, Va., before undergoing a unique renovation. Using an inclined plane, workers will sever and relocate a 320,000-pound, two-deck unit of the ship's superstructure. This will allow additional passenger space in the modernized ship, below. Sister ship S.S. Independence will be altered similarly. The eight-week job will cost $6,750,000 for each ship.

Old observation lounge replaced by solarium on sports deck.

Entire 160-ton two-deck unit (bridge, officers' quarters, other facilities) moved 21 feet forward and 8½ feet higher.

Lifeboats raised one deck higher to permit enlargement of play deck area.

Gap filled by 4 new suites, 14 new staterooms on sun deck and 38 new staterooms on promenade deck.

Will Conduct Check On Glove Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization says it will investigate the impact of imports on the domestic knit glove industry.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) had asked Leo Hoegh, director of OCDM, to investigate whether imports are in such quantity as to affect the ability of the industry to meet defense needs.

Hoegh told Keating Wednesday he had received enough additional information from the industry to indicate an investigation should be made.

The industry is located principally in the Upstate New York communities of Albany, Gloversville, Ft. Plain, Johnstown, Yonkers and Ballston Spa.

Keating said the industry has been hard hit by imports and faces extinction unless aid and protection is given.

"I am gratified that the OCDM has shown this interest and has consented to look into the situation of an industry so hard hit and suffering such great unemployment," Keating said.

Virginia Solons' Word Due Today On School Issue

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's Legislature was expected to indicate today whether it agrees with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. that the state is legally powerless to prevent school integration regarded as imminent in three communities.

Almond said at the opening session of the emergency General Assembly Wednesday he knew of nothing he could do to avert token integration.

Six closed schools in Norfolk may reopen Monday on a desegregated basis. Arlington has been ordered to admit four Negroes Monday to a white junior high school and Charlottesville is also proceeding with plans to reopen its two schools closed in the integration dispute.

Charlottesville and Arlington school officials planned a last try today for a stay of integration from Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals in Baltimore.

Almond said Virginia was at the end of the legal line in trying to preserve the traditionally segregated school system but pledged to continue the fight he has waged against mixing of the races and to fight to minimize integration in the future. He said the state has not surrendered and "does not surrender now."

Estate Tax Attorneys

ALBANY—Taxation and Finance Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy today appointed estate tax attorneys for three counties of the State: Anthony V. Cotroneo of Rochester as associate estate tax attorney for Monroe County at $7,950, to succeed A. Roger Clarke of Webster; C. Clark Van Fleet of Middletown as estate tax appraiser and attorney for Orange County at $6,310, succeeding J. William Fink Jr. of Central Valley; Monroe Fink of Glen Cove, L. I., as estate tax appraiser and attorney for Nassau County, assigned to the Brooklyn District Office of the Tax Department, at $6,450, to succeed Julius D'Amato of New Hyde Park. All three appointments are effective February 12. The newly named officials will represent the State Tax Commission in estate tax proceedings in their respective areas.

Display of '59 Tab

ALBANY—The '59 tab goes on the lower right hand corner of the rear 1958 license plate. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles has received many complaints that the tab is being attached incorrectly. Unless it is properly placed, car owners are in violation. As January 31 falls on a Saturday this year, car owners have a weekend of grace to display the '59 tab. The 1958 expiration date automatically advances to midnight Monday, Feb. 2. Offices of the State Motor Vehicle Bureau, 135 Ontario Street, Albany; 155 Worth Street, New York City; 320 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, and 89-01 Sutphin Boulevard, Jamaica, will be open Saturday until noon for the issuance of renewals and tabs. Renewals also may be obtained on Monday, of course.

Sees Expansion

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A St. Lawrence Seaway official says the Great Lakes area has the elements to assure "an economy which cannot be held dormant or static."

Martin W. Oettershagen, deputy director of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. addressed a meeting of the Council of Lake Erie Ports Wednesday.

Oettershagen said those elements included a steady industrial plant expansion, a plentiful supply of iron ore and water, satisfactory climate and a growing population.

Canned peas marked "Early," "June," or "Early June" are of the smooth skin variety; the ones marked "Sweet" or "Sugar" are late maturing and have a natural sweet flavor.

Tuscaroras Meet Will Act Tonight On Land Offer

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—The general council of the Tuscarora Indians meet tonight to act on the latest move by the State Power Authority to acquire part of their reservation.

But a settlement, considered certain a few days ago, appeared uncertain.

In a telegram Wednesday to the Indians' attorney, Arthur Lazarus Jr., SPA Chairman Robert Moses reiterated his previous stand denying two "fringe" benefits sought by the Tuscaroras.

Moses said the SPA could not allow any deal to be contingent on congressional action; and he said the Indians could not be granted free electricity as they asked.

He said if no settlement were reached by tonight, the SPA would drop its scheme to utilize reservation land.

It wants the land as part of a 2,600-acre water storage reservoir. Moses said a failure to settle would mean the SPA would build a smaller reservoir entirely off the Indian reservation.

The SPA has agreed to a Tuscarora price of $3,000,000 for the 1,383-acre tract and a number of side benefits.

The Indians also want Congress to approve any transaction to prevent establishment of a precedent in similar cases. They want Congress to extend reservation boundaries to alternate land which has been made available. This would make the land tax free.

While Moses assured the Indians of his support to secure congressional action he said the SPA "will not agree to making the transfer...contingent on such action."

NEW YORK (AP)—Taxpayers in New York State are being prepared today for a cut in their take home pay.

If Governor Rockefeller's proposal to collect the state income tax by withholding at source is adopted, New York will join 11 other states and the District of Columbia which use some form of this system. In eight other states the plan is reported as being talked over.

The withholding method, started by the federal government in 1943, has its defenders and critics. But most agree that this collection system does bring in more dollars from the taxpayers.

Seventeen states don't tax individual incomes. But the Tax Foundation, a research organization in New York City, reports that in fiscal 1958 those states that did got a total of $1,579,740,000 from this source.

In fiscal 1958 the federal government got 34 1/2 billion dollars from individual income taxes. It hopes to get 40 1/2 billion dollars in fiscal 1960 which starts next July 1.

Here are the advantages set forth by withholding tax advocates:

Withholding week by week is less painful to the taxpayer than having to take care of one big sum.

There is less chance for evasion when the boss hands over the money than when the worker is left to forget about it. Too, it is a surer way of collecting from out of state residents and from transient workers.

Withholding keeps money coming into the Treasury fairly regularly rather than in spurts. Those who frown on the withholding system note that it cuts take home pay all year long. The taxpayer may have seasonal expenses or emergencies.

Some taxpayers complain that the federal and state governments get the use of their money for free. The taxpayers would like to use it and get interest on it until the end of the tax year.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Is any film star worth a half a million to a million dollars a picture, plus a share of its profits?

In a rare bit of public breast-beating, producer Sam Goldwyn last week declared exorbitant salary demands by actors were "the chief danger" facing the movie industry.

Preminger Hits Critics

There came a rebuttal from Otto Preminger, one of the most successful independent producers of the last decade.

"It's the wrong thing to cry 'a public about stars asking for too much money,'" Preminger said.

"In a free competitive society, anyone is privileged to ask anything he wants for his services. But if you don't want to pay them, you don't have to."

"If I find an actor asks too much, I simply don't employ him. I find somebody else."

"Is any actor worth a million dollars a picture? You can't generalize. He might be worth more than a million dollars—if his services are truly unique—or he might be worth less than nothing. The public really decides that question at the boxoffice."

Preminger said producers themselves were largely to blame for the present high salary demands of actors.

"This all started by bribery," he declared crisply. "It resulted from producers persuading actors to play in scripts the actors really didn't want any part of. The only way the producers could get them to was to pay them more and more money."

As a producer, Preminger sometimes is a bit on the daring side when it comes to casting. One gamble he feels sure will pay off is the hiring of Boston, lawyer Joseph N. Welch, star of the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, to play the judge in his latest film. Preminger feels the motion picture industry is undergoing a long-range change that will ultimately improve it.

Growth Good for All

"I don't think television has hurt motion pictures," he said. "We have had only a temporary setback. Television will face the problem of becoming a second-rate advertising medium rather than a first-rate entertainment medium."

"Pay television will come, and when it comes it will be a good thing. Meanwhile the showing of old pictures on TV has made it necessary for us to compete against what we did before. This merely forces us to be better than we were, and growth is good for anybody."

HOFFA BLASTS SENATORS—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa addresses representatives of Teamster Joint Council No. 62 in Baltimore on its 25th anniversary. ## Pay Bills, Trade Later, U.S. Answer to Mikoyan

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—When Anastas I. Mikoyan visited the United States this month, talking with businessmen from coast to coast, he made a big pitch for American trade with the Soviet Union. This week he got a public answer.

This, in effect, was it: If you want to trade, let's trade, but why don't you pay your bills first?

Mikoyan, Soviet first deputy premier, is the Soviet trade boss. Here he conferred with his opposite number, C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs. It was Dillon who gave the answer.

Long Term Credits Out

Broken down, it goes like this: The two countries can trade, all right. But the Soviet Union which is extending credit to underdeveloped countries with which it trades, wants this country to let the Russians buy here on long-term credits.

Thus, in talking about trading with the United States, the Soviet Union is acting like an underdeveloped country itself although it is the No. 2 economic power in the world.

Moscow can't get those long-term credits — although Mikoyan laid them down as a precondition to trading—for a couple of reasons — it owes this country a big chunk of money, and until it pays up a law forbids further credits.

The Russians could do business — if they want to — on a pay-as-you-go basis, Dillon said. But he noted that the Soviet Union is the only major country with which "we have been unable to reach a settlement of lend-lease accounts" from World War II.

Just Civilian Goods

He wasn't talking about lend-lease military equipment sent the Russians during the war. He emphasized he meant only civilian-type lend-lease goods. These, he said, amounted to $2,600,000,000.

He said the United States, when the two countries last discussed the matter in 1951, was willing to settle for $60 million dollars payable over a long period at low interest rates.

He said Moscow had offered only 300 millions.

He noted that long-term private credits to a defaulting country are prohibited by a law enacted as long ago as 1934. But he added: "Short-term credits are, however, freely available to the Soviets on normal commercial terms."

Certain kinds of materials — those that would help build Soviet war-making power — cannot under American law be shipped to the Soviet Union. The government can prevent their shipment by controls on licenses for export.

Embargoed List Out
But the list of such embargoed materials, Dillon said, has been considerably reduced until now "actually only about 10 per cent of all our products moving in international commerce are subject to embargo."

He said 900 American products need no special export license for shipment to the Soviet Union. In addition to them, he cited a long list of American products which could be shipped and which, if bought by the Russians, would help increase the economic standard of their people.

Bridge Club Reports Good Entries for Master Point Game

The Glenierie Bridge Club held its first fall Master Point game at the Jewish Community Center Tuesday evening.

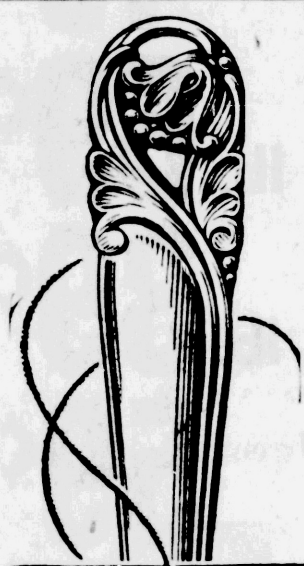

A very good entry was received with more than 50 persons competing in a game that produced fine play and extremely close scores, it was reported. In a three-way tussle for top spot first place (North-South) was taken by Mrs. Harry Jacobs and Mrs. Charles Campbell of Kingston with a fine exhibition of sound play and accurate bidding. Only half a point behind were the second place pair, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum of Kingston who matched the winners almost all the way. Third place went to Mrs. Charles DeWitt of Kingston and Milton Tompkins of Hurley whose sound play put them within two match points of the winners. Fourth place was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weiss who were playing their first organized duplicate bridge.

On the East-West side Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks of Hyde Park spread-eagled the field in taking top spot with a fine 67 per cent game. ## Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel Represents Women With Goal; Ideals Keep Them Active

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

"Housekeepers in the House of God and mothers to the children of our congregation"—these are the thoughts which form the basis for the fervent activity of Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel. Although its members—115 in all—are caught up in a whirl of projects and programs, they are ever mindful of the aims and goals of their organization—"to educate ourselves religiously and to work to see to the Jewish education of our children. To be aware of the needs of the community that we, as an organization, can fill."

Seldom does an organization meet its obligations as does the Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel. Chattering with its president, Mrs. Leone Gross, I learned of the tremendous number of projects in which the Sisterhood is involved.

Minutes of 1894
As far as can be determined, the Sisterhood was organized in 1894. It was, however, as the Ladies Aid Society and Rabbi David Wolff was its first president.

The objectives of the group as established then, have persisted throughout the years. In the pages of a minutes book, yellowed with age, the aims were set forth as follows:

"... to furnish and to keep the Temple in good and proper order, to purchase from time to time what is required and also to help the needy."

Time has diminished the purpose of this group, today known as Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel, but rather it has strengthened it. Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel continues to support its House of God, but more than that, members have translated their religious teachings into living for the benefit of the community, state and national welfare.

In conjunction with their beliefs, members have assisted wherever possible to promote, support and introduce community programs geared for the betterment of mankind. For example, they have endorsed the establishment of a junior college here, school consolidation, community betterment. They combat prejudice in everyday life, and subscribe in token donations to every community drive.

"To maintain various projects," Mrs. Gross said, "it is naturally necessary to have fund raising endeavors of many types. Our Odds and Ends Shop at 63 Broadway helps support our religious education program and serves the entire neighborhood. There is a warm and intimate relationship between the folks on lower Broadway and the Sisterhood members who run the shop."

"Other income yielding efforts are derived from the many faceted social programs of the Sisterhood."

Temple Dedication
"Of course, we are living in very exciting times now, Dorothy," Mrs. Gross said. "Our most important project right now is the completion of our new Temple on Albany Avenue. Its dedication on March 20-22 will be the fulfillment of a dream. The magnitude of the work for the Sisterhood members will, of course, increase. But however mindful we must be of fund raising," Mrs. Gross said, "members of Sisterhood are ever confronted with the purpose for a House of God."

Local Resident Will Attend Alumnae Meeting at Wellesley

Mrs. Lloyd R. LeFever of Richmond Park, will attend the 36th annual session of the Wellesley College Alumnae Council, February 5, 6 and 7 on the campus in Wellesley, Mass.

"Wellesley's Arts Festival Year" will be the theme of the meeting of some 300 alumnae from throughout the nation. The "Arts Festival" designation for 1958-59 is in observance of the recent opening of the Jewett Arts Center for art, music and theatre. General sessions of this year's Alumnae Council will take place in the Jewett Arts Center, the largest gift of academic buildings since Wellesley was opened in 1875.

Alumnae on the Council have been chosen to represent their classes, regional clubs, and geographical fund committees. In workshop sessions major attention will be given to the College's current effort to raise $15,000,000 for faculty salary funds and lesser amounts for other educational needs.

Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, will give the opening speech before members of the Council. Lectures in the realm of the fine arts will include a discussion of contemporary art and a description of the permanent art collection of the College. A speech on the theatre at Wellesley will be followed by presentation of an original one-act play written last year by a student who now is a junior at the College. David Barnett, concert pianist and a member of the Wellesley faculty, will speak on contemporary music; his talk will be illustrated by two alumnae at the keyboard.

Others on the program during the three-day meeting of Alumnae Council will include Miss Mary E. Chase, vice president and Director of Admission; a panel of three science professors who will discuss "Biological Effects of Radiation"; and a member of the faculty of the History Department whose topic will be "Contemporary France."

Kitchen Conference Group Discusses Community College

The need of a community college in Ulster County was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Farm Bureau Kitchen Conference group Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Boice Jr., High Falls.

During the full discussion, locations, financing and types of courses were outlined.

Members present besides Mr. and Mrs. Boice were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denksoln, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Schoonmaker Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William Warren.

This group is one of several Kitchen Conferences in the county. They are made up of Farm Bureau members and friends who meet regularly to discuss current issues which affect farm families. It is through these discussions that opinions are formed, resolutions are written and eventually State Farm Bureau policies are made. All members are encouraged to be long to Kitchen Conference groups which make Farm Bureau one of the most democratic organizations in the country.

THANKS FOR A GREAT KINDNESS

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my husband's death several years ago, his former employer and friend has sent a check to me each month and he has told me that he will continue sending it as long as I live. I would like to know if it is necessary to write him a thank-you note each month upon the receipt of the check.

Answer: No, you do not thank him every month as the checks you receive will let him know that you have received them. You have surely already expressed your thanks to him and you continue to write him two or three times a year. You give him your news and tell him how well you are getting along and let him know how much his generosity is helping you and how thankful you are.

Discouraging Further Friendship Without Rudeness

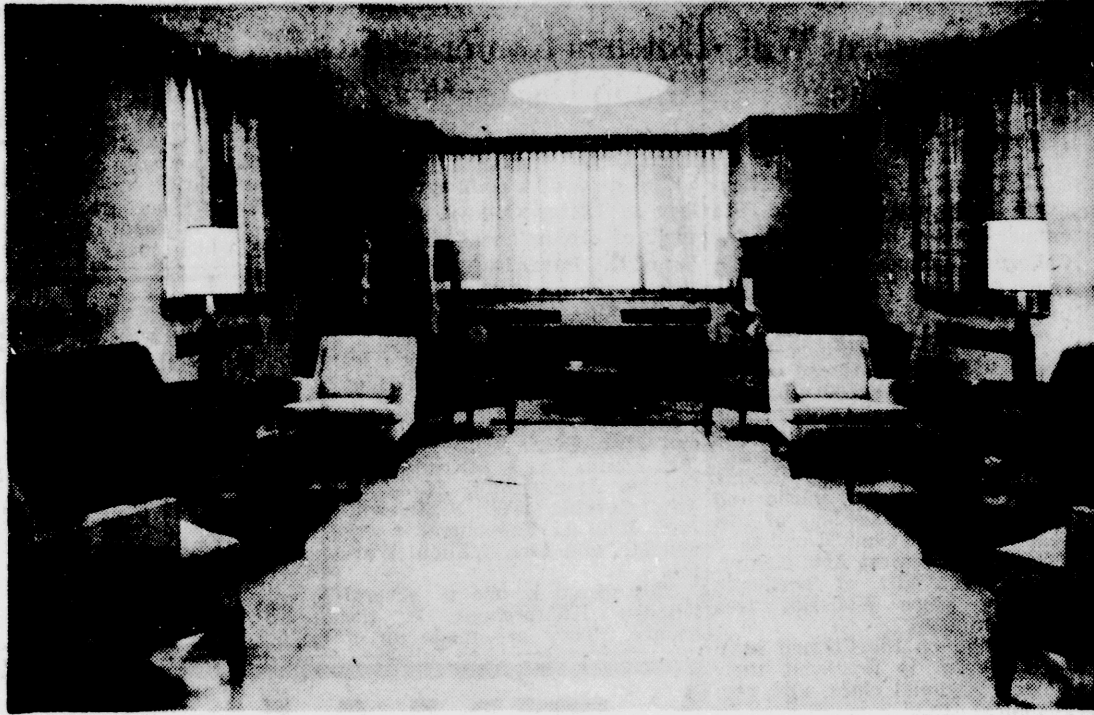

Dear Mrs. Post: As a friendly gesture, we called on some new neighbors. They returned our call. Since that time they have invited a few of us together who called on them, for cocktails. We found we had little in common with them and didn't care to encourage further friendship. We ourselves are now giving a large cocktail party and having all of our friends and most of our neighbors. Can we ignore the new ones?

Answer: Not possibly without deeply offending them. If it were a small party you could omit

Eisenhowers End Social Season; Guest Of Honor Is Texas Democrat Sam Rayburn

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House social season ended on a nostalgic note Tuesday night with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower hearing songs of their courting days.

Their guest of honor, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 77, a Texas Democrat, came in for his share of his music too, with songs of his home state.

Both the Marine Corps band and entertainers at an after-dinner musicale made sure the President heard "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

They played it twice to make up for an unfamiliar version by Lawrence Welk's orchestra Monday night when the President requested it at a state dinner for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Eisenhowers ended their 1958-59 social season—an abbreviated version of only five state dinners—with a doubleheader on two successive nights.

A bipartisan group of 16 senators and 22 representatives, half Democrats and half Republicans, were among Tuesday night's guests.

Bachelor Rayburn came early with his sister Mrs. Edward Bartley of Bonham, Tex., and spent 10 minutes before the dinner visiting the President and first lady in the family living quarters.

Rayburn got his musical salute at the start when he and his sister walked down the red carpeted hall with the Eisenhowers to meet the other guests. The Marine band struck up "The Eyes of Texas" and swung into "The Yellow Rose of Texas" and "Texas Fantasy."

Humor Is Easier

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir John Gielgud regards Macbeth as the toughest Shakespearean role he has ever performed. "The most difficult roles of all to play are ones in which the character has no sense of humor," the English star declares. "That is why Lear and Macbeth are difficult—but to me Macbeth is the most difficult."

In conservative families in Korea, a woman is seldom referred to by name. She is addressed, usually, as wife, mother or some other feminine relation to the male head of the family.

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — John H. Bruner, an official of the Friends of the Middle East, died Wednesday in Tehran, Iran, where he has been stationed since November, 1956. A spokesman for the organization in Washington said he had died of paralytic poliomyelitis. He was born in Greenfield, Ind.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Eugene Lucas, 62, a horticulturist on the staff of Michigan

University, died Wednesday of a heart attack. Lucas was in the third year of his four-year project seeking to find out whether an apple a day could keep the doctor away. He enlisted the services of 500 university students and proposed to compare their health record with 500 nonapple eaters.

HONOLULU (AP) — John V. Moore, 78, retired Rhode Island manufacturer, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack. He retired last fall after selling his rubber products plant in Pawtucket.

President Plans Georgia Hunting, Trip to Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to make a quail shooting trip to Georgia and a goodwill visit to Mexico within the next three weeks. The White House, announcing both trips Wednesday night, said he hopes to leave for Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 4 or 5 and to return to Washington Feb. 9. He will be the guest of George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury.

The President has visited the Humphrey estate each February for the past five years. Eisenhower will hold informal talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos at Acapulco Feb. 19-20 at the invitation of the Mexican President. The resort center is on Mexico's Pacific Coast.

BROADLOOMS-CARPETS-RUGS IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Because it is difficult for the buying public to understand quality the following is intended to help you understand what you are getting when you buy a rug or a broadloom carpet.

ALL WOOL BROADLOOMS of these there are many qualities in all weaves. The good qualities are constructed of long staple sturdy wools, the type of wool yarn that gives durability, but unfortunately, there is a severe scarcity of these types of wools in the markets of the free world since the wools of China, Mongolia and Manchuria are no longer available for our use.

MEDIUM QUALITIES are made up of a blending of some good long staple sturdy wools with softer wool yarns, mostly from South America, the types of yarn that give more bulk than durability.

Cheap, low-grade wool carpets are constructed almost entirely from low-grade soft wool yarns which today constitute close to 40% of all the wools we use in the manufacture of carpets and rugs. All the wools we use in the making of carpets are imported, when good quality long staple wools were available in sufficient quantity, the soft short staple yarns that goes into the bulk of our carpets today was seldom or never used, except as filler or bulk.

WOOL and NYLON. The most important development in recent years is the use of good wool, 70% blended with Duponts best carpet nylon 30% which gives us a carpet with almost double the durability of an all wool carpet of the same construction and you get cleanability, crush-resistance and clearer color tones. BEWARE of the wool and nylon blends where the nylon used is reprocessed from old automobile tires and the wool used is of an inferior grade and there are many of them manufactured for Sales purposes.

ACRILAN is newer than Nylon in the man-made fibres and has many of the attributes of medium grade wool blends but it is not as good as good quality wool yarns. It will not do for medium or good wools when added as a blend what the best carpet Nylon will do in increased durability, cleanability, improved crush-resistance.

CELAIRE a new man-made fibre is something we will hear a lot about in the next few years and may develop as a real competitor of Nylon. Our low prices on carefully selected brands and qualities which include heavy cushions and laying with no extra charge for tackless installation, wall to wall is your guarantee of satisfaction.

Mother's March Collects $900 In Early Returns

More than $900 was collected in the Mother's March on polo in Saugerties Wednesday night, with 11 communities still to be heard from, according to John W. Davis, town chairman.

Last year's total was $1,300. Davis said, and the remaining communities not reported last night at March of Dimes headquarters in the Saugerties Legion Home will have to make heavy returns to bring the amount up to the 1958.

More than 100 women recruited by the Auxiliary of Lamoree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, canvassed town and village neighborhoods in the afternoon and evening.

The sound of the siren at 7 p. m. signaled the start of the march in the village.

In other promotions for the March of Dimes in Saugerties the Camp Fire Girls collected $9.36 in the Blue Crutch Drive, a special gasoline sale at Paul Barca's Shell Station, Barclay Heights netted $69, and the Mile of Dimes caravan last Saturday collected $154.91 toward the town campaign.

Winding up the campaign in Saugerties this week will be the March of Dimes variety show with Stewart Air Force Base personnel Friday at 8:30 p. m. in Saugerties Municipal Auditorium, and the benefit basketball game of all-stars Saturday night featuring Katsbaan Tavern's autumn league champs vs. Kingston YMCA League all-stars and two preliminaries by Saugerties Girls Club and the Saugerties Youth Council all-stars. The games will be in the municipal auditorium.

Another Jockey Goes On

Groggy Tripp Hits Bed in Astor After No-Sleep Marathon

NEW YORK (AP)—Disc jockey Peter Tripp went to bed earlier than most of us Wednesday night, but for a good reason: he'd been up for 200 consecutive hours. A Florida disc jockey was going strong well past the 200-hour sleepless mark.

Tripp started his no-sleep marathon Jan. 20 to aid the March of Dimes campaign and to provide scientific information.

Sound Sleep Assured

Groggy but protesting "I just have a touch of a headache," Tripp, 32, left the Times Square Armed Forces Recruiting Station at 7:14 p. m.

Dr. Louis J. West, professor of psychiatry at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, said: "He probably will sleep sounder than ever before in his life."

Tripp, with radio station WMGM, has not been the only disc jockey staying awake around the clock.

In Jacksonville, Fla., Dave Hunter of Radio Station WZRO—who said he had started two hours ahead of Tripp—today was continuing his marathon. Hunter also had been under medical supervision.

Hunter, 23, is pressing on toward his new goal of 9 days, 9 hours, 9 minutes and 9 seconds, which he would reach at 6:09 tonight.

Will Test Brain

Tripp was studied closely by researchers from five institutions. Shortly after he had finished his 200 waking hours he was taken across the street to the Astor Hotel. He will remain there for several days for doctors to make additional tests. While he is asleep, brain measurements will be taken with an electro-encephalograph. Dr. West said the team had gathered "a volume of data" on Tripp that might require weeks or months to digest. West said the findings will be offered to medical journals.

Philanthropy Rises

NEW YORK (AP)—Total contributions to American philanthropic causes rose to 7.1 billion dollars in 1958, a 5.97 per cent increase over the 6.7 billion dollars given in 1957, it is estimated by the American Assn. of Fund-Raising Councils. Of the total, 3.6 billion dollars went to religious purposes, up $200,000 over 1957's figure.

Beaten paths are for beaten men.

Take life as you find it, but do not leave it so.

When asked why Daniel was not devoured by the lions, Charles H. Spurgeon once opined: "Most of him was backbone, and the rest grit."

Happiness is the art of finding joy and satisfaction in the little privileges of your life.

The father had taken his small son to see the House of Representatives in session.

Boy—Who's that man, pop?

Father—That, son, is the chaplain of the House.

Son—Does he pray for the Representatives, pop?

Father—(Thinking a moment, then answered grimly)—No son, when he gets up there and looks around at the members of the House he prays for the country.

If it weren't for our illusions, we'd be free from deceptions, and life free from any interests.

Husband—It says here in the paper that the silly woman can

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Weapon's Future Uncertain U.S. Is Mass Producing 1,500-Mile Thor Missile

Home on Leave

THOMAS WICKMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wickman of 152 Clifton Avenue, is home on a 14-day leave following completion of training as jet air mechanic at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas. On his return he will be stationed at Castle Air Force Base, Calif. Wickman attended Kingston High School prior to entering the service in August, 1958.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—America is mass-producing one of its most reliable missiles in a form so simple that crews can fire them in volleys on 15-minute notice, even from mobile bases. The missile is the 1,500-mile Thor, a combat-ready weapon that also is a workhorse in space research. It can carry a nuclear warhead known as the "County-buster" and is stockpiled at bases in this country and abroad.

Range Is Limited
But because of its limited range, the future of the Thor is uncertain. This picture emerged today after the first press tour of Thor production and testing facilities here and in Sacramento, Calif.

Newsmen Wednesday saw parts of more than a dozen Thors on an assembly line at the Douglas Aircraft plant here and 17 finished missiles in a storage area. At Sacramento they saw a demonstration that a hanged Thor can be made ready to launch by quickly trained crews 15 minutes after the order to fire.

At the factory, officials showed how the Thor and its launching equipment can be packaged for airlift to any part of the world. At the Sacramento site, they demonstrated how a squadron of Thors can be hauled from a landing strip to a hastily rigged launch site.

No permanent concrete emplacements are necessary—only a metal ring on the ground for the missile's tail to rest on while it is being fueled. The missile and its erecting mechanism, its control rooms, and electrical generators are all on wheels.

A Thor squadron has 15 missiles, all ready to be fired at once, at the same target or at 15 different targets. In the field, each missile requires only four men to fuel and fire it.

Tests Show Reliability
Fifteen successes and 12 partial successes out of 31 firings attest the Thor's reliability.

The missile is ready for use now, Air Force Brig. Gen. Donald Coupland told newsmen, but that doesn't mean it's operational. There are two other factors.

First, enough crews must be trained to use them. American and British crews are undergoing training now at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Second, they must have a target within reach of Thor bases in the United States. Thor bases in Britain have not been announced as operational.

Teen Caravan Is Winding Up Dimes Drive on Saturday

The YM-YWCA Clubs of the Kingston-HYCA will hold their final campaign Saturday for the March of Dimes, soliciting in the uptown area of the city.

At 10:30 a. m. the Teenage Caravan will leave City Hall for Wall Street, featuring clowns, music by the Cascades and other entertainment.

Goal of the teenagers is $1,000 for 1959. To date they have raised $820.08.

In charge of Saturday's program will be Louis Kushner, Frank Koenig, Ernest Lombardi and Frank Rebollo, youth director at the YMCA.

Tallulah Derailed
NEW YORK (AP)—Tallulah Bankhead's plans to come to Broadway in "Crazy October" have been scrapped. The James Leo Herlihy comedy ran into critical headwinds on tour. The show was financed at $100,000.

Kommuter's Klub
CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Commuting students at Southern Illinois University decided to name their club "KKK."

It doesn't mean Ku Klux Klan—it's "Kampus Kommuter's Klub."

The 40 members indicated it would have a Greek organization significance to match fraternity and sorority activities on campus.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON

THAT LONESOME ROAD

Now that many newly elected Congressmen and Senators are planning more and more "Federal aid," unbalanced budgets and Government debt, let's take a look down a lonesome road. We are already down half way, and more, from a $ worth 100c to a $ worth nothing.

True, national income in $'s gets higher and higher. But all the $'s in the world mean nothing if the $ is worth nothing.

Consider 40 years of inflation in France—still continuing. If our $ continues to lose value as the French franc has done, a low-priced automobile would cost 250,000 $'s (a quarter of a million).

A 100,000 $ life insurance policy would keep a widow in a second-class boarding house for 10 months. A 100 $ Social Security check would buy two pounds of hamburgers.

And so on. When the $ is worth nothing, a billion $'s are worth nothing. Most Frenchmen are millionaires today—in francs. But they have had to put a dictator in supreme charge for six months to try to save the nation from collapse. And it remains to be seen whether the new de Gaulle government can hold the line against all the pressure blocs of "something for nothing."

These new Congressional spenders are apparently no smarter than Frenchmen have been for 40 years.

Neighbor, the red lights are flashing along the American road!

Abandoned Children

Woman Charged With Kidnaping Arrested Before

NEW YORK (AP)—The woman charged with the kidnaping of month-old John Tavaraz was arrested nine months ago on a charge of abandoning her three children for 11 days, police disclosed today.

Police said Mrs. Ascension Ortiz was arrested April 22 and accused of leaving her children with another woman after having promised to return for them the same day.

At the time, it was said, Mrs. Ortiz gave her name as Ascension Calderon. The abandonment charge subsequently was dismissed by a magistrate.

Mrs. Ortiz was arrested early Tuesday. The Tavaraz baby, kidnaped a few days earlier after Mrs. Ortiz became acquainted with the baby's mother, was found with her, police said.

Short Engagement

ENID, Okla. (AP)—After their engagement Dean Jane Spickelmier of Enid and Charles Tobin Bensinger of Midwest City, Okla., decided to save their pennies for the wedding. They didn't get enough to finance the wedding but they paid for their marriage license with 300 pennies.

The Art Association is working on a display of contemporary paintings dealing with the history of the State Teachers College. The college will hold a tea on October 4 in connection with an art display on the Hudson River.

The old stone mill on the Gardiner Road will be in full operation. George Smith will explain the process of flour making as it was done in the 18th Century. The mill is the only one in operation today that mills flour in the old stone method as it was done in early Colonial times.

Other surrounding towns are working with the New Paltz Committee on a program of events, which will be announced later.

Largest Meteorite

Largest meteorite recorded was the Tunguska meteorite which crashed in northern Siberia on June 30, 1908. Earth shock produced was recorded on a seismograph at Irkutsk, 600 miles distant, while the air wave was recorded on a sensitive barograph in England. The sound was heard nearly 1,000 miles away.

Supervisors Group Pledges Support Of H-C Activities

ALBANY — The New York State Association of Supervisors has adopted a resolution pledging its "full cooperation" to the State Commission on Historic Observances to make the "Year of History" celebration of 1959 a state-wide success.

At a conference at the Concord Hotel at Kamesha Lake, the resolution was unanimously adopted, Robert Ford, outgoing association president, declared.

Among the speakers at the conference was State Senator Ernest L. Hatfield, chairman of the State Commission on Historic Observances. He urged the supervisors to assist the county committees appointed by his Commission in promoting the historic observance.

Gunman Slays Attorney

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A gunman killed El Paso attorney Theodore Andress at International Airport here Wednesday night, threw his empty pistol at the body, and stroled away.

An unidentified witness, reacting to the screams of the lawyer's wife, grabbed Dr. Harold Eidinoff inside the airport terminal a few minutes later. The witness held Eidinoff, middle-aged operator of an apartment house in Grants, N.M., until a patrolman arrived.

Police Chief Howard Jones said Eidinoff was wearing a bullet-proof vest. He was charged with murder.

Chief Jones said Eidinoff, once a physician here, and Andress had been involved in legal disputes dating back to 1954.

Governor Calls For Tri-State Commuter Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller is spurring the pace of the drive for tri-state action to solve the commuter problem in the New York metropolitan area.

"We have passed the time for study — we have reached the time for action," he says.

Rockefeller says New York State, New Jersey and Connecticut and their metropolitan area communities must act promptly to meet the mass transportation crisis.

The governor told a Republican victory dinner crowd Wednesday night that solution of the railroad commuter crisis has a top priority in his administration.

Rockefeller addressed more than 2,000 persons at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Astor hotel. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, who was elected with Rockefeller in November, also spoke.

Today in Albany, Rockefeller appointed Robert W. Purcell of New York City as his special consultant on commuter problems.

Purcell, who will serve without salary, is a business adviser of Rockefeller and his four brothers. Rockefeller plans to establish an office of transportation in the executive department but said he had named Purcell to serve in the meantime "because of the particularly pressing urgency of the commuter service problem."

Rockefeller also named as advisers to Purcell: Ernest Williams of New York, professor of transportation economics at Columbia University; Arthur S. Genet, Cleveland railway executive, and Harry G. Herman, county attorney of Westchester county.

Minute Car Wash produced the best team effort in last night's pulsating basketball program at the YMCA, and Frank Ebelheiser turned in the best solo performance.

The Minutemen captured a first place tie in the B Division in garrison finish as they defeated 35 Club, 56-51, and Backs defeated Harry's Angels, 59-55 in the A circuit. Katsbaan blasted Wimpy's, 69-47, in another A Division contest and the teams stood thus:

	W	L
Katsbaan	7	3
Harry's	3	5
Wimpy's	3	5
Backs	1	7

Minute Car Wash won with only 40 seconds to play, after getting off to an 18-11, first period lead. Both teams countered with 11 points and Car Wash led at the intermission, 29-22.

Lead After Three

The Minutemen jumped to a 41-35 spread at the third period. Herman Sickler made four and Car Wash moved ahead 41-39. With 1:30 left, after the teams had traded baskets and the score 50-47, Sickler crashed through with a layup, Tom Childs popped a jump shot and Charlie Tiano dunked a layup to ice it. Burris and Williams pumped two from line and it was all over, in a real sparkling finish. Ebelheiser refuted contentions that the little men have had their day in the era of present day basketball. The 5 ft. 6 in. manager of Backs dropped in seven points in the final 2:30 and almost won the game by himself.

The Hurley schoolteacher made a three-point play to move ahead, 53-52 and repeated the effort 10 seconds later as his team surged to a 56-52 lead. George Holstein also contributed three. Ebelheiser netted a jump shot and with 10 seconds remaining hit on a free throw.

Scores 20 Points

He led his team with 20 points. Noel Bonacci had 14, playing a good outside game and Holstein contributed 12. Champ Holstein paced the losers with 23 along with Bob Smith.

Frank (Yip) Koenig poured in 21 points for Katsbaan in their win over Wimpy's, and in another game yesterday at YMCA the Juniors defeated the Royals, 48-40. Hoffman had 13 for the winners, McKenna 15 for the losers.

DUSO Scoring

Riley, Uhl Pacing Circuit, Davis, Gerow, Coonan Trail

There's a battle between Newburgh's LeRoy Riley and Joe Uhl of Kingston for the individual DUSO league scoring championship. With the first round now history, except for a postponed game between Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie, Riley has a nine point margin over Uhl. The NFA veteran center has slugged 209 points in eight games for an average of 26.1. Uhl, the sophomore flash, has 200 points in eight contests for an average of 25 a tilt.

Following the top two are Ben Davis of Ellenville, Josh Gerow of Liberty and Jack Coonan of Newburgh. Richie DePew, Poughkeepsie's star, is sixth, but has played one less game than Coonan and could push ahead of him if he hits his average of 18.9.

16th Annual Cage Tournament Slated at Poughkeepsie 'Y'

Entries are being accepted for the 16th annual Poughkeepsie YMCA Hudson Valley Basketball tournament, scheduled to start March 9, 1959. This has been one of the top-notch tournaments of the valley in past years, and Don McKiernan, YMCA Physical Director, said he hopes the one this season will be the best ever.

Bisons Threaten Runaway Race

The Buffalo Bisons, who threatened to make a runaway of the American Hockey League at the start of the season, once again are showing signs of pulling away from the field.

With the Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons faltering, the Bisons have opened up a three-point lead on the strength of two straight victories. The second place Bears and the injury-riddled third place Barons have lost two straight.

Two third period goals gave the Bisons a 3-1 decision over the Rochester Americans Wednesday night while the Bears dropped a 6-4 game to the Springfield Indians.

Buffalo took a 1-0 lead on Parker MacDonald's first period goal but Dave Creighton tied it at 9-0 of the third. Forty-one seconds later Larry Wilson put the Bisons ahead to stay. Their final goal was by Gerry Foley after Rochester had taken out goalie Gerry McNeil.

The Indians, with high scoring Ken Schinkel whipping in the deciding goal at 18-40 of the final period, moved out of the cellar with their victory over Hershey. They got another in the final seconds after Buffalo had withdrawn its goal tender.

Willie Marshall got two of Hershey's goals and Jim Anderson had two for the Indians.

Adolph Rupp Goes After 600th Victory With Kentucky Squad

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Adolph Rupp, who gets what he goes after 85 per cent of the time, tries for victory No. 600 at Kentucky tonight and another milestone in his brilliant 29-year career as a college basketball coach.

The 57-year-old Baron has coached 703 games, all as head man of the Wildcats. His 599-104 record figures out to a winning percentage of .853 — by far the best of any coach over a period of years at a major school.

Georgia's Bulldogs form the opposition in the game at Lexington that can advance Rupp to a 600 club inhabited by only three other coaches — Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State and Eddie Adams of Texas Southern.

The Baron comes up to the milestone at an absolute peak with a team that ranks No. 1 in the nation with a 15-1 record and looks capable of defending the unprecedented fourth national collegiate title Rupp and the Cats bagged last season.

Rated Teams Win

Rated teams Bradley, No. 9, Seattle, No. 13, and St. Bonaventure, No. 16, fattened their records in features of Wednesday's program.

Bradley, holding on for another crack at Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley Conference race, made it 12-2 with a 68-55 whipping of Toledo as Dean Smith scored 21 points. Seattle, 13-2 against collegiate competition, spilled San Francisco 80-62 and St. Bonaventure, which lost its nine-game unbeaten string last Saturday, started a new one with a 74-56 decision over St. Francis (N.Y.). It was St. Francis' 11th straight loss.

Ken Fairfield and sophomore star Tom Smith combined for 47 points for the Bonnies, with Fairfield netting 28.

Michigan Wins 10th

Surprising Michigan got 22 points apiece from John Tidwell and M. C. Burton in rolling to its 10th triumph in 12 tries, 68-63 over Washington of St. Louis. Dayton, Nov. 11-4, downed Canisius 68-55. Xavier of Ohio downed Georgetown (DC) 70-62.

In the East, All-America Don Henson scored 22 points and three Pitt teammates joined him in double figures for an 81-62 romp over Geneva (Pa.). Fordham's 10th victory in 13 games was a 95-67 wallop of Wagner.

Muhlenberg nipped Rutgers 67-66 and Brown's Ivy Leaguers won a 61-47 decision over Northeastern. The University of Hawaii shocked Southern California 60-36. Albany scored a 60-42 defeat of Airbray.

G. Bilbao Leads UCAL in Scoring With 80 Points

Gene Bilbao had a pair of hot hands in his last two starts and has taken over the individual scoring leadership in the UCAL league. The Walkill star has rimmed 34 field goals and 12 foul shots in five games for 80 points. Second is Tom McCrosson of Ontario with 70 points.

Ontario, which is leading the league, has three of its players in the top ten. They are the biggest reason for the success of the Indians.

Cheibcs Pick Up 309,000 at Gate

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs' profits jumped from a dollar a day average in 1957 to $199,000 in 1958.

The earnings were announced at the club's annual stockholders' meeting Wednesday. In 1957 Cubs were a mere $37 ahead.

An increase of 309,000 in home attendance largely was responsible for the profit rise. The turnstiles clicked to the tune of 979,000 as the Cubs wound up in a tie for fifth place, their highest finish since 1952.

Controversy Explodes

Maresca Bill Would Doom Saratoga Racing

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A bill that would permit simultaneous racing at Saratoga and New York City in August had leading turfmen running against each other today.

At the same time, a move was underway to replace the state's controversial, one-member harness racing commission with a three-member agency.

Assemblyman Orest V. Mare of Manhattan introduced a measure Wednesday that would repeal a state law that gives Saratoga 24 days of exclusive racing each year.

The president of the New York Racing Assn. promptly announced he was opposed to simultaneous racing.

"I would hate to see anything happen which would hurt the position of thoroughbred racing at Saratoga," John W. Hanes said. "I think it fair to say the great majority of those interested in thoroughbred racing share that sentiment."

There have been reports that Gov. Rockefeller plans to propose the change as a means of producing more revenue for the state from pari-mutuel betting taxes.

Heck Will Fight
Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck has pledged, however, "a fight" against any move to repeal the 1957 law that guarantees Saratoga its exclusive meet.

Meanwhile, Sen. Frank E. Van Lare (R-Rochester), sponsored a bill Wednesday to expand the harness racing commission.

Similar moves have died in legislative committees in the past two years because former Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman and leaders of the Republican-controlled Legislature could not agree on appointees.

George P. Monaghan was appointed harness commissioner in 1953 after a sweeping investigation disclosed widespread racketeering in the sport.

Monaghan eventually became involved in controversies with the U. S. Trotting Assn. and Harriman appointed James M. Landis, former dean of the Harvard Law School, to investigate.

Landis reported that the controversies would continue as long as there was a one-man commission.

With Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller in the governor's chair, the GOP would now have full control over appointments to an expanded commission.

Jones Finally Beats Gi

The Kingston Colonials

*** A Baseball Legend (1921-27) ***

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The Colonials met the fabulous Havana Cubans in their 67th game of the season on Sept. 2, 1925, in a twilight game at the old Fair Grounds. And the Islanders were every bit as impressive as the press clippings Nate Markson had filed before their arrival.

There have been many "Havana Cubans" since then, but this was the McCoy. Cuba's two greatest players of the day—Martin Dihigo and Walla Walla Oms, the Babe Ruth of Cuba, were in the lineup along with such other stars as Mesa Fabre and Julio Baro, the pitcher.

The contest was halted by darkness at the end of seven innings, with the Cubans leading 3-0 on a 3-hitter by Baro. Paul Kinney allowed only six hits, but was the victim of a couple of cheap runs.

The Colonials loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh in a dramatic bid to escape a shut-out. But Baro closed out the threat by getting Johnny Peters on a fly to left field.

Maury McDermott launched the seventh with a single and Baro walked Bernie McCue and Bill Schwab to load the bases with none out. The promising threat died aborning when Jack Robbins popped to the first baseman: Art Smith, pinch-hitting for Kinney, struck out and Peters skied to left. Matty Deegan doubled with one out in the fourth but perished there. Baro had things under control in the other innings.

The Cubans parlayed a walk to Mesa, a single by Fernandez, Jack Robbins' throwing error and stolen base into two runs in the second inning. They ran the score to 4-0 in the sixth on singles by Dihigo and Oms, an infield out, intentional pass to Mesa and Baro's fly to deep center.

Maury McDermott won a 12-inning thriller over Bayside on Sept. 27, yielding only nine hits.

to win a 2-1 decision over Ollinger. Bernie McCue's fourth single of the game broke up the contest. Big Ed Phelan singled to open the Colonial 12th. McDermott doubled to put runners on second and third and McCue slashed the winning hit.

The classic series with the D&H Generals and the Chappie Johnson All Stars continued in the latter stages of the 1925 season. Paul Kinney beat the Generals, 3-2, on 6 hits, and tied Chappie Johnson's, 3-3, on 5 hits. One a triple by Buck Ewing. The Chappie's trounced the Colonials, 12-8, on Sept. 13 with Lee Ridgely slamming 4 singles.

Art Smith turned back Chappie's, 4 to 1, on 3 hits; and followed up with a 2-0 shutout of the D&H Generals on Sept. 20, allowing only 3 hits to beat Connors.

Bob Grody and the Haverstraw Knights of Columbus topped Maury McDermott and Paul Kinney, 7-4, in the first game of a doubleheader at Haverstraw on Oct. 4 and Courtney completed the sweep beating Art Smith, 5-2, in the 5-inning nightcap.

That concluded the 1925 season with 53 victories, 20 defeats and 3 ties.

Jack Isaacs' 66 Good for Stroke Lead in Seniors

By WHITNEY MARTIN

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The 55-and-over brigade in the National Professional Golfers' Assn. Senior Championship returned for its second round today, with its job cut out for it to remain in title contention.

The 50-54 age group set a sizzling pace Wednesday, with nine contestants bettering par compared with only two in the first round of the 55-and-over detachment.

Topping the field in the first round was Jack Isaacs of Langley (Va.) Air Force Base with a six-under-par 66, one stroke over the course record and one stroke ahead of Dick Metz of Ft. Worth, Tex.

Three other players broke 70 over the 6,589-yard par 72 PGA national course. Charley Burkart of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, had a 68. Leland Gibson of Kansas City and Al Huske of Glenelg, Ill., had 69s.

The sub-par scores put the defending champion, Gene Sarazen, on a spot. Sarazen had a 73 for his first round and must have a sharp round today to remain with in striking distance of the leaders.

The only par-breakers in the 55 and over group were Oak Wilcox of Dayton, with 70 and Bill Goldbeck of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., with 71. Al Watrous, three times a champion, virtually shot his way out of contention with an opening round 77.

The Turkish Republic was proclaimed in 1923 with Mustafa Kemal as president.

The officers include Morris Tucker, vice president; Robert Stedje, secretary; Howard Stauble, treasurer, and Robert Bush, player agent.

Medical Books, Skates Keeping Jenkins Active

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Doubling at medical studies and skating hasn't dimmed David Jenkins' enthusiasm for figure skating.

Despite the tough grind, he feels he has a good chance to capture his third straight national men's senior figure skating crown this week. He is the favorite.

The 4-day national meet opened today with the novice ladies and novice mens compulsory school figures. The free-skating part of the novices' competition will be held Friday night.

Jenkins, a slight, 5-6, 135-pounder from Colorado Springs holds the U. S., North American and world titles. He hopes to retain these and cap his career with the Olympic title in 1960 just as his brother did.

Hayes Allen Jenkins, now at Harvard Law School, won the Olympic gold medal in 1952 and was king of the men's figure skaters for four successive years.

David, 22, is in his first year at Western Reserve's school of medicine in Cleveland.

Karol Heiss, the 19-year-old queen of the figure skaters, was due in today with her sister, Nancy 17, and brother Bruce, 15. Nancy figures to give her sister the most competition in the ladies senior tournament.

Bruce is entered in the junior competition.

Will Yogi Trigger Landslide?

Veteran Signs For $42,500

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Yogi Berra has given in, apparently accepting his second salary cut in two seasons, will the rest of the New York Yankees fall in line?

There's supposed to be all sorts of unrest among the world champs, who figure such champs shouldn't be expected to accept a decrease in salary.

Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald, and Whitey Ford, to name the big guys, are a bit miffed. So's 21-game winner Bob Turley, although the pitching hero of the World Series has been offered a raise. Trouble is, it isn't exactly the hike Turley had in mind.

Berra was among the quash-holders until Wednesday. Then, within 24 hours after Manager Casey Stengel sided with the front office and chewed his players a bit for lack of hustle and excessive night life, Yogi was back knocking on Roy Hamey's door.

A 45-minute conference ended Wednesday with Berra agreeing to a contract believed to call for $42,500, a $2,500 cut from last year's salary, which in turn was about $5,000 below the $50,000 or so he picked up in 1957.

Yogi, 33, and veteran outfielder Hank Bauer are the only Yankees whose signing have been announced. Bauer signed last week, for somewhere around $25,000. That represented one of the token raises the Yankees hope to get away with.

LSU's Dietzel's Hopes For 1959 Repeater

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Paul Dietzel, coach of national champion Louisiana State, thinks he has a strong chance of repeating next fall.

In a statement that might hurt his standing in the coaches union, the young tutor of the undefeated, untied Tigers, who climaxed a great year with victory in the Sugar Bowl, declared: "We will be deeper, stronger and bigger and we're not planning on losing any games."

The unheard of optimism was expressed following a speech he made here Wednesday night at a banquet that had the four state champions of Texas schoolboy football as special guests.

They coasted along with the breeze in the Over 30 League last night and neither the Jaycees nor Saugerties Amrods had to extend themselves in winning.

The Jaycees defeated Main Street Liquor Store, 41-34, and Amrods romped to a 44-33 victory over Hotel Kingston. "Pappy" Sickler scored 14 to lead Andy Murphy's quintet. Mickey Kyff, who has been consistently hitting over 20, dropped below that mark last night, but still settled for 11.

Dick Terlingen pumped in 17 to pace the Jaycees. They contained the Main Street offense to a come one point in the first period, while scoring 12, but would have been in trouble the second half had they not built up an earlier bulge.

Fred Seither and Bill Straub did a tandem job on Hotel Kingston in the second period. Seither scored 13 and Straub 8, in that period to really open the gap. Seither's total on the game was 21, and Straub 14. Ray Sversky dumped in 13 for the losers.

Colgate Post Is Wide Open

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—The Colgate University football coaching job still is wide open.

Alva E. Kelley, of Brown University has not been offered the post, a Colgate spokesman said Wednesday night after a published report that Kelley would succeed Fred Rice.

The spokesman said Kelley was one of more than a dozen men interviewed by the screening committee. The committee will meet through the weekend.

No announcement is expected for a week or two.

Rice resigned after two years as Colgate coach to become defensive coach at Marquette University.

NEW YORK (AP) — The much-discussed national college football conference remained today exactly where it always was — in the talking stage.

California's Athletic Director Greg Englehard sounded the keynote for the 12 schools reportedly involved when he said the idea was promising "but nebulous."

"We must get the approval of our administrations," he said, "but we are hopeful."

Ed Krause, Notre Dame's athletic director, backed him up. "All such plans are definitely premature," he said. "The idea was simply in the discussion stage."

Magazine Article

An article in the current issue of Sports Illustrated said plans were crystallized earlier this month at the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s convention in Cincinnati.

The conference would have an Eastern Division composed of Army, Navy, Pitt, Notre Dame, Syracuse and Penn State; and a Western Division with Southern California, UCLA, California, Washington, Air Force and perhaps Stanford.

Those involved have called the proposed alliance an "airplane" conference. Each team would play four games within its division and one in the other loop, extending rivalries on a trans-continental basis.

Four Rookies Will Receive Close Check by Athletics

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — At least four Kansas City rookies are going to be watched with great interest in the Athletics' training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., this spring. They are first baseman Kent Hadley, second baseman Lou Klimchick, outfielder Zuke Bello and pitcher Howard Reed.

Not that the others in the 16-man freshman squad won't get a thorough inspection. This quartet, however, appears to be the cream of the crop.

Bello is the most experienced of the lot. Normally a first baseman, he probably will be given an opportunity to win an outfield berth. He has a reputation as a power hitter. The A's acquired him from the New York Yankees.

Bello played at Denver last year and compiled a .339 batting average, enough to win the American Assn. batting title had not injuries kept him out of the 34 more games he needed to qualify.

Hit 34 Home Runs
Hadley slammed 34 home runs to pace the Southern Assn. in that department. He drove in 91 runs for Little Rock. He was acquired from the Detroit Tigers.

Klimchick burned up the Class C Pioneer League, capturing the batting championship with a .389 mark at Pocatello. His only limitation is experience.

Reed is a former Texas University athlete who impressed Manager Harry Craft last fall in his sole start with Kansas City. All he did was beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1 with a four-hitter. A right-hander, he had an ordinary 10-14 record with Albany.

Wayne Terwilliger, former Chicago Cub, New York Giant and Washington infielder, will get a chance at second base. He played at Charleston last year.

Alex George, a shortstop, brings his .285 average from Pocatello. Shortstop Ray Slider and outfielder Charlie Secrest of Little Rock, and first baseman Jim McManus of Seattle, round out the list of newcomers.

NEXT — Washington Senators.

Patterson Set In Ink Contract

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the almost forgotten heavyweight champion, and Ingemar Johansson, pride of Sweden, sign for a title fight today.

There's a man a slip twist the lip and the cup, especially where Cus d'Amato, Patterson's manager, is concerned. But the best inside information, including indirect quotes from d'Amato himself, indicate that Patterson would come out of hiding around 12:30 p.m. EST today and join with Johansson in the contract signing ceremonies.

Lawyers have been huddling ever since the curly-haired, handsome fistful of Sweden arrived last Friday. The word is they have ironed out all of the details for Patterson's fourth title defense since he knocked out Archie Moore Nov. 30, 1956 for the right to wear the crown vacated by Rocky Marciano.

Best guess is that Patterson will be guaranteed $300,000 as against 40 per cent of the net receipts while Johansson will get $100,000 or 20 per cent.

The date and site of the fight are not expected to be announced.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

Labradors, Golden Retrievers and other types are classified as non-slip retrievers when worked from the duck blind or in field trials.

A frequent question is, why are they called non-slip retrievers?

The term merely applies to the fact that the dog is kept on lead in hunting and slipped only when work is required.

Slipped is the word commonly used to indicate unleashing or casting off since the customary way of holding or leading them was with a double leash. When the dog was to be released, one end of the double leash was released and the leash slipped through the dog's collar leaving him free to retrieve.

Many times the leash is a long strap with a snap at both ends. Snapped to the handler's belt at one end and the other run through the dog's collar and snapped on the belt, the dog was secure. To release the dog, one end is unsnapped and allowed to run through the collar leaving the dog free.

Could Be Difficult
Dogs so handled are trained to walk in a mannerly fashion on lead or the life of the handler would be rather difficult to lead.

The Germans have developed a lead which consists of a loop that can be slung cross-body over head and shoulder with a long extension on the end of which is a snap.

At about belt level, as it is worn, a ring is attached. The end is slipped through the dog's collar and snapped on the ring. When the handler wishes to release the dog, he merely unsnaps the end, which is convenient to his hand and lets it slide through the collar.

Sight hounds, incidentally, were led on double leashes and, when in sight of their quarry, slipped by releasing one end of the leash, thus freeing the dog for the chase.

Elsewhere, the Dayton Flyers dumped Canisius 67-54 at Dayton and Ithaca trimmed Brockport Teachers 55-42 at Ithaca.

For St. Bonaventure, co-captain Ken Fairfield scored 28 points to lead the Bonnies over outclassed St. Francis. Dick Dreyer pumped in 15 for the losers, who lost their 11th straight. St. Francis has won two. St. Bonaventure has won 11 and lost one.

Frank Case, 6-foot-2 junior from Flushing, L. I., sparked Dayton with 24 points as Canisius lost its sixth straight and ninth in 14 starts. Dayton has won 11 and lost 4. Frank and Tom Rojek with 15 and 11 points, respectively, were the only Canisius players to score in double figures.

Ithaca led all the way on the scoring of Rick Slomkowski, who netted 15 points. Bill Walsh fired in 11 for Brockport. Ithaca has won six of 11, while Brockport has won but two of 10.

Soviet Cagers Overpower United States in Finals

By BRIAN BELL

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Soviet Union finally has caught up with the United States in basketball.

For the first time, a Soviet team has beaten the Americans at the game which was originated in the United States.

It happened Wednesday night when the Russians walloped the Americans 62-37 in the game that generally was expected to decide the championship of the World Basketball Tourneys.

The Russians were elated by the victory. "This victory will live in our memories for a long time," said Alexandri Gomelski, one of the Soviet coaches. "Our defense kept those American superstars—No. 12 and 13 (Jerry Vayda and Dick Welsh) from having time to shoot. Therefore they couldn't score as they usually do."

Were Unimpressive
The Air Force All Stars, representing the United States, had been unimpressive in maintaining a perfect record through the preliminary round robin and their first three games of the final round robin championship play. Wednesday night they looked even worse as they bowed to the tall Russians.

The Soviet victory meant they can clinch the championship by playing Nationalist China Friday night. Even if they lose to the Chinese, who have not won a game, they would take the title on the basis of goal average.

Wednesday night's victory was their fifth in as many starts. All other teams have lost at least one game. The U.S. plays Chile tonight and dangerous South Friday.

However, the Russians have said they will not play the Chinese because of political reasons. If they don't they will forfeit all previous games.

In that event, the tournament winner probably will be decided when the U.S. plays Brazil, Brazil matched the Americans' 3-1 record Wednesday night by beating Puerto Rico 99-71.

Celts Top Hawks in Overtime

BOSTON (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks were greeted by a shower of eggs Wednesday night as they took the floor for their National Basketball Assn. game with the Boston Celtics.

The demonstration, apparently caused by reports that fans pelted Boston Coach Red Auerbach with beer, towels and cups in St. Louis last week, brought a public apology from Celtics owner Walter Brown.

The Celtics, cheered on by a crowd of 9,420, went on to defeat the defending NBA champions 120-111 in overtime.

Tom Gola, Guy Rodgers and Woody Sauldsberry carried the Philadelphia Warriors to a 99-84 victory over the Cincinnati Royals and Jim Krebs scored three points in the last 30 seconds to give Minneapolis a 112-109 triumph over Syracuse in other NBA action.

Baylor Scores 38

Sauldsberry scored three straight baskets to open the second half and Gola and Rodgers helped it along to 82-62 after three quarters. Gola led all scorers with 26 points. Archie Dees paced the Royals with 14.

Dolph Schayes brought Syracuse to a 109-91 tie with 43 seconds remaining. Krebs hit with a push-shot 13 seconds later and wrapped it up with a foul with four seconds to go.

Elgin Baylor led Minneapolis with 38 points and Schayes had 34. Gene Conley scored six of his 10 points in the overtime session to lead the Boston attack. Bob Pettit scored 40 points for St. Louis. Frank Ramsey's 30 points paced the Celts.

Rams' Dick Bass To Quit College

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams have heard reports that their No. 1 draft choice, halfback Dick Bass of College of the Pacific, intends to quit school and become eligible for the 1959 National Football League season.

"This is news to me," said Coach Sid Gillman of the Rams. "As far as we are concerned, we hope Bass decides to play another year of college football. The added experience would be good for him. When we selected him in December as a future choice, we had in mind only that he would be available for 1960, not before."

Says Athletes Can Provide Goodwill

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Athletics provide a way Americans can spread goodwill around the world.

So said decathlon champion Rafer Johnson in accepting an award as "California athlete of the year" for 1958. He was selected in a poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Presentation was made at a dinner hosted by the San Diego Athletic Club Wednesday night. World Lightweight Champion Archie Moore was acclaimed as "fighter of the year."

Greyhound Hikes Fares 6 PC in State on Sunday

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Greyhound Corp. will raise its fares 6 per cent on travel within the state, effective Sunday.

The fare increases, granted Wednesday by the Public Service Commission, will apply statewide except in areas where Greyhound competes with other bus lines. These include areas between Buffalo and Rochester, Albany and points north, and between some points in the Adirondacks.

Previously, the Interstate Commerce Commission had allowed the bus company to boost its fares 5 to 15 per cent on travel between states.

Higher wages, taxes and insurance costs will increase operating costs in New York State $425,000 this year, the company maintains.

Even with the higher fares, Greyhound said, revenue from intrastate travel this year will sink below that of the year ended last Sept. 30.

In another action, the PSC scheduled a public hearing in Saratoga Lake Feb. 17 on the New York Central's petition to discontinue its last passenger service between Utica and Lake Placid.

The railroad now operates two trains each way daily. The Central said the trains lost $209,800 in 1957 and $122,000 in the first nine months of 1958.

In this weather a radio operator isn't the only one with a code in the head.

It takes a cool head on a wife's shoulders to make some men successful.

AF Studies Transfer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is studying a possible transfer of the 8th Air Force headquarters from the Westover, Mass., Air Force Base to the Plattsburgh, N. Y., AFB.

In announcing the study Wednesday, a spokesman cautioned, however, that "no decision has been made and there is no estimate of when such a decision will be made."

Sunday Freedom Day

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Sunday will be Freedom Day in New York State.

In a proclamation, Gov. Rockefeller noted Wednesday that Abraham Lincoln signed on Feb. 1, 1865 the resolution that led to adoption of the 13th Amendment, which forbids slavery.

U.S. Recovery From Recession in Detail

Newschart shows how manufacturing, mining and transportation accounted for four-fifths of the 1957-58 decline in employment and for half the employment increase since April.

Cost of living, which went up as all major price indexes rose between 1955 and mid-1957 (see Newschart), managed to remain stable in recent months. Increases during 1958 were confined mainly to food and service prices. Data from Department of Commerce.

Newscharts, based on President Eisenhower's annual economic report to Congress, show how the nation snapped back from last year's recession. Chart at left illustrates how state and local spending and consumer outlays on nondurables and services helped offset declines in business investment, exports and consumer spending on durables. A short time later, chart at right, changes in inventory investment and purchases by consumers and by government became major factors in the gross national product increase. Department of Commerce data.

Times, Trib Boost

Out-of-Town Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune will increase their daily edition newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents in areas 50 miles from New York.

The increase goes into effect Feb. 2. The price will remain at 5 cents within the metropolitan area.

The Times and Herald Tribune have been charging 10 cents for daily editions sold more than 100 miles from New York City.

The city's two other morning newspapers, The News and Mirror, say they plan no increases immediately in their daily edition sales outside the metropolitan area. Their daily editions sell for 5 cents.

All Manhattan afternoon newspapers have been charging 10 cents for their daily editions for some time.

Allow at least 1/2 pound of meat for each person when buying bony cuts like spareribs.

Has Wagner Backing

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Mayor

Robert F. Wagner of New York City is backing a bill that would require licensing of rifle and shotgun dealers.

He also proposes to prohibit the sale of ammunition except by licensed dealers in firearms.

Bills were introduced Wednesday by Sen. Frank J. Pino and Assemblyman John J. Ryan, Brooklyn Democrats, to carry out both proposals.

Washington's Hurley Visit To Be Reenacted on Feb. 22

Reenactment of General George Washington's visit to Hurley on Sunday, Feb. 22 will initiate the Year of History program in this community for the Hudson-Champlain celebration.

According to historical records, November 16, 1782, a year after the defeat of Cornwallis, General Washington visited Hurley. His trip from New Jersey to West Point that fall was circuitous, and probably interrupted all the way by receptions and honors tendered him by respectful fellow citizens full of gratitude.

Prepared a Welcome Although Kingston was preparing a welcome on a large scale, Hurley could not let the General pass through without recognition. Hurley had early and stubbornly resisted British domination. A large and enthusiastic crowd met him as he rode in from Stone Ridge where he had spent the night at the home of his companion-in-arms, Colonel Cornelius Wynkoop. He was escorted to the tavern on the corner where Matthew Ten Eyck addressed him in behalf of the freeholders and inhabitants of Hurley.

The reenactment will be followed by a reception for all inhabitants of the town. It is expected that this will be attended by many dignitaries, marking the beginning of Hurley's celebration of the Year of History. The Hurley Lions Club has undertaken this project.

Planning Events Other organizations and groups in the town are now actively engaged in plans for events and publications to reach fulfillment during the spring and summer.

A tentative schedule following the February 22 opening will be the Ulster County Stamp Club's traveling exhibit to be shown at the Hurley Library in March, the library exhibit of old local documents in April, and the greatly expanded Memorial Day celebration by the Grange on May 31.

In June the children of the three upper grades of the school will put on a historical pageant. The Parents Club is considering dedicating a plaque on the site

Bloomington Vols To Honor Sauer, Leader 14 Years

When Frederick F. Sauer was elected first president of the Bloomington Fire Company he didn't realize the job would last 14 years. But it has.

The Bloomington volunteers keep re-electing him. Each time he's nominated to succeed himself, there's the usual speech praising him for efficiency.

Now the company will prove that what is said really has true meaning. The president is to be honored at a testimonial.

The big event will take place Saturday in Alpine Inn starting at 7:30 p. m. Joe E. O'Connor is to be toastmaster. And there will be speeches galore, followed by dancing.

President Sauer has lived in Bloomington since 1920. He came in from New York City, where he learned the printing trade, starting as an errand boy when he was 13.

He has been pressman for the Rosendale News, but is retiring. Fifty-one years feeding presses in the area and New York entitled Mr. Sauer to a well-earned period of relaxation.

But, he'll keep on fighting fires. That's for sure.

A sergeant first class in World War I, he spent two years overseas with the First Army Corps. He was a motorcycle dispatch rider, serving in France, Germany and England, and was at the Argonne and St. Mihiel when things were hot.

About Third of Sixth Graders Did Cheating

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—A test of sixth-grade children here shows that many of them are—well—a little less than honest.

The test was conducted among approximately 300 public school children by Sanford M. Unger, a Cornell University student writing a thesis about conscience.

At the end of various questions about their attitudes was one that told the sixth-graders to close their eyes and put marks in circles on a sheet of paper.

It was billed as a "muscular coordination test." Actually, it was a test of honesty. Unger figured if more than a few marks landed inside circles, the child peeked.

About one third of them did, he reports.

To Syracuse Marine

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — The U. S. Marines today announced the death of Marine Sgt. Peter H. Boehmer of Syracuse, N. Y., in a motor scooter accident.

Boehmer's neck was broken when the scooter he was riding Sunday veered off the road and ran into a ditch.

The sergeant was the manager of the enlisted men's club at a Marine camp near Naha. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Larry Peter, 9, and James Earle, 4, all of Syracuse.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was her mother's seventh child. Harriet, herself, had six children.
